Introduction to Statistical Mediation Analysis David P. MacKinnon,2012-10-02 This volume introduces the statistical methodological and conceptual aspects of mediation analysis Applications from health social and developmental psychology sociology communication exercise science and epidemiology are emphasized throughout Single mediator multilevel and longitudinal models are reviewed The author s goal is to help the reader apply mediation analysis to their own data and understand its limitations Each chapter features an overview numerous worked examples a summary and exercises with answers to the odd numbered questions The accompanying CD contains outputs described in the book from SAS SPSS LISREL EQS MPLUS and CALIS and a program to simulate the model. The notation used is consistent with existing literature on mediation in psychology. The book opens with a review of the types of research questions the mediation model addresses. Part II describes the estimation of mediation effects including assumptions, statistical tests, and the construction of confidence limits. Advanced models including mediation in path analysis, longitudinal models, multilevel data, categorical variables, and mediation in the context of moderation are then described. The book closes with a discussion of the limits of mediation analysis, additional approaches to identifying mediating variables, and future directions.

Introduction to Statistical Mediation Analysis is intended for researchers and advanced students in health, social, clinical, and developmental psychology, as well as communication, public health, nursing, epidemiology, and sociology. Some exposure to a graduate-level research methods or statistics course is assumed. The overview of mediation analysis and the guidelines for conducting a mediation analysis will be appreciated by all readers.

The Impact of Foreign Direct Investment and Export on Gross Domestic Products in Developing Countries Antoine Niyungeko, 2020-12-07. Scientific Study from the year 2020 in the subject Business, economics, Investment and Finance. Language: English. Abstract: This paper aims to investigate the relationship between foreign direct investment (FDI), export (EXP), and gross domestic product (GDP). The impact of interaction between EXP and FDI on GDP was also examined. For this purpose, a quantitative approach was adopted. Secondary data for 49 countries whose gross national income per capita was less than 6,000 were collected. Spearman correlation, robust regression, and causal mediation analysis were performed. Spearman correlation showed very strong correlation among GDP, FDI, and EXP. Robust regression indicated that all regression coefficients are statistically significant, indicating a positive moderation effect of the interaction between EXP and FDI on GDP. Causal mediation effect indicated that the average causal mediated effect is statistically significant, while the average direct effect is not statistically significant, indicating full mediation. The effect of FDI on GDP is transmitted to GDP through increasing EXP. The effect of the interaction of FDI and GDP was found statistically significant. The results are consistent with empirical studies and existing theories.
