Critical Theory and Science Fiction Carl Freedman, Carl Freedom, 2013-09-01 Selected by Choice as an Outstanding Academic Book of the Year This innovative cultural critique offers valuable insights into science fiction thus enlarging our understanding of critical theory Carl Freedman traces the fundamental and mostly unexamined relationships between the discourses of science fiction and critical theory arguing that science fiction is or ought to be a privileged genre for critical theory He asserts that it is no accident that the upsurge of academic interest in science fiction since the 1970s coincides with the heyday of literary theory and that likewise science fiction is one of the most theoretically informed areas of the literary profession Extended readings of novels by five of the most important modern science fiction authors illustrate the affinity between science fiction and critical theory in each case concentrating on one major novel that resonates with concerns proper to critical theory Freedman's five readings are Solaris Stanislaw Lem and the Structure of Cognition The Dispossessed Ursula LeGuin and the Ambiguities of Utopia The Two of Them Joanna Russ and the Violence of Gender Stars in My Pocket Like Grains of Sand Samuel Delany and the Dialectics of Difference The Man in the High Castle Philip K Dick and the Construction of Realities

The Eternal Future of the 1950s Dennis R. Cutchins, Dennis R. Perry, 2023-07-07 Science fiction cinema once relegated to the undervalued B movie slot has become one of the dominant film genres of the 21st century with Hollywood alone producing more than 400 science fiction films annually Many of these owe a great deal of their success to the films of one defining decade the 1950s Essays in this book explore how classic 50s science fiction films have been recycled repurposed and reused in the decades since their release Tropes from Don Siegel's Invasion of the Body Snatchers 1956 for instance have found surprising new life in Netflix's wildly popular Stranger Things Interstellar 2014 and Arrival 2016 have clear though indirect roots in the iconic 1950s science fictions films Rocketship X M 1950 and The Day the Earth

Stood Still 1951 and The Shape of Water 2017 openly recalls and reworks the major premises of The Creature From the Black Lagoon 1954 Essays also cover 1950 s sci fi influences on video game franchises like Fallout Bioshock and Wolfenstein

Solaris Stanisław Lem, Irmtraud Zimmermann-Göllheim, 2009 Hyperobject Reading, Scale Variance, and American Fiction in the Anthropocene Chingshun J. Sheu, 2023-03-25 This book proposes a model of reading called hyperobject reading that bridges the Anthropocene scale variance between humans and humanity by focusing on the large scale problems and phenomena themselves Hyperobject reading draws on narratology and reader response theory as well as newer developments such as the postcritical turn and object oriented ontology The theoretical introduction sets out the building blocks of hyperobject reading Chapter 2 intervenes in critical disability studies and debates about the ecosomatic paradigm Chapter 3 intervenes in debates about technological evolution analogue vs digital subjectivity and affect theory and Chapter 4 intervenes in debates about autofiction contemporary metafiction and the position and role of the narrator in first person narratives where the narrator and protagonist can be distinguished The analytical conclusion sketches the conceptual anatomy of the hyperobject and three possible responses No part of the Earth today is free from human influence but literary success suggests effective real world strategies

The Philosophy of Steven Soderbergh R. Barton Palmer, Steven Sanders, 2011 At the age of twenty six Steven Soderbergh launched his career in the film industry with astonishing success His film sex lies and videotape 1989 which he wrote in only eight days won the prestigious Palm d Or at the Cannes Film Festival a bittersweet blessing that shaped high expectations for the young director The film also nominated for an Academy Award is regarded by most film experts as a turning point in the history of American independent cinema The Philosophy of Steven Soderbergh examines Soderbergh s full body of work from films that brought him commercial success such as Erin Brockovich 2000 to more controversial films such as The Limey 1999 which put his name among the ranks of such celebrated filmmakers as the Coen brothers David Lynch and Orson Welles Editors R Barton Palmer and Steven M Sanders introduce readers to the imaginative storylines philosophically salient themes and inventive approaches to filmmaking that distinguish Soderbergh s work Expert scholars analyze Soderbergh s films individually exploring topics such as the nature of reality in Solaris 2002 the heritage of Enlightenment thought in Schizopolis 1996 guilt punishment and redemption in The Limey 1999 altruism in Erin Brockovich 2000 truth knowledge and ethics in sex lies and videotape 1989 politics as reality and fiction in K Street 2004 and Kantian ethics performance and agency in Traffic 2000 and the Ocean s trilogy 2001 2007 Like the Coens and David Lynch Soderbergh places emphasis on character over narrative self conscious

Solaris Mark Bould,2017-10-07 Despite being one of Andrei Tarkovsky s most successful films Solaris 1972 was the one he most disliked This dismissal of his most generically marked film has often been accepted by those quick to embrace the image of Tarkovsky as a transcendent artist rising above the politics of the Soviet film industry and the trappings of genre to produce personal works of art Going against such currents Mark Bould instead treats Solaris as the product of a genre as well as the work of a skilled film maker He teases out Tarkovsky s fascination with Stanislaw Lem on whose novel the film was based and also considers Steven Soderbergh s 2002 adaptation Lively and revealing Bould s examination situates Solaris within the Russian and global cultures of the fantastic to which Tarkovsky contributed three major science fiction films This special edition features original cover artwork by Matthew Shlian

Remakes Anna Zafiris,2010-02 Seminar paper from the year 2004 in the subject Communications Movies and Television grade 1 Utrecht University Media Studies course Remakes Parody language English abstract Thom Patterson from CNN expresses the issue of the remake in a very nice way Remaking well known films can be the Hollywood equivalent of replacing the family dog or a favourite bathrobe sometimes only the old one will do and a replacement is unthinkable In my case study I will take a closer look at the two different versions of Solaris Andrei Tarkovsky s Solaris 1972 and Steven Soderbergh s Solaris 2002 Is Soderbergh s Solaris a worthy representative replacement or addition to Tarkovsky s Solaris or is it just like Patterson describes it unneeded like the replacement of the family dog Is Tarkovsky's family dog so well known and respected that a new family dog would be redundant. First of all, one should notice that both films are based on Stanislaw Lem's book Solaris. At least that's what one can read everywhere, but is this so? Is Soderbergh's film a re-adaptation of Lem's book or is it rather a remake of Tarkovsky's film? I would like to analyse in what way the two directors developed the characters in the film, having the book Solaris as the basis. By analysing the way Soderbergh and Tarkovsky present the relationship between Hari Rhey and Chris and how the two directors develop the characters, I will also try to find an answer to the question whether Soderbergh's Solaris is a remake of Tarkovsky's Solaris or a re-adaptation of Lem's book. What are the similarities and differences of the presentation of this relationship in the two films? Soderbergh, for example, never personally said that his film is only a remake of Tarkovsky's Solaris, but also or even more a re-adaptation of Lem's book. This would exactly apply to the theory of Jan Speckenbach, who mentions in his first part of On the Remake: A cinematic phenomenon that sometimes the Solaris Stanislaw Lem, 1999.
