

Thinking Sociologically

In modern and postmodern society, no one is an island. Our life and work are closely related to other people's, groups' and organizations', and this affects every aspect of our life. Therefore, everyone should have some fundamental knowledge of sociology, a discipline which probes into the nature and characteristics of the relationship between individuals and society.

In Text A, Leonard Cargan and Jeanne H. Ballantine provide broad and concise ideas about the links between sociology and individuals. You are invited to ponder: What is sociology? Why should we learn sociology? What can we learn from sociology? What work do sociologists do? How is sociology useful to us and to the world? In Text B, the sociologist C. Wright Mills points out the troubles modern individuals face and analyses the relationship between these troubles and our fast changing society. Hopefully, with some sociological imagination, we will be able to develop solutions to some of these problems.
