Chirlian, 1982      Integration of Renewable Sources of Energy Felix A. Farret, M. Godoy Simoes, 2017-07-05. The latest tools and techniques for addressing the challenges of 21st century power generation, renewable sources, and distribution systems. Renewable energy technologies and systems are advancing by leaps and bounds, and it's only a matter of time before renewables replace fossil fuel and nuclear energy sources. Written for practicing engineers, researchers, and students alike, this book discusses the state of the art mathematical and engineering tools for the modeling, simulation, and control of renewable and mixed energy systems and related power electronics. Computational methods for multi-domain modeling of integrated energy systems and the solution of power electronics engineering problems are described in detail. Chapters follow a consistent format featuring a brief introduction to the theoretical background, a description of problems to be solved, as well as objectives to be achieved. Multiple block diagrams, electrical circuits, and mathematical analysis and/or computer code are provided throughout. And each chapter concludes with discussions of lessons learned, recommendations for further studies, and suggestions for experimental work. Key topics covered in detail include: Integration of the most usual sources of electrical power and related thermal systems; Equations for energy systems and power electronics focusing on state space and power circuit oriented simulations; MATLAB and Simulink models and functions and their interactions with real-world implementations using microprocessors and microcontrollers; Numerical integration techniques; transfer function modeling; harmonic analysis and power quality performance assessment; MATLAB Simulink Power Systems Toolbox and PSIM for the simulation of power electronic circuits including renewable energy sources such as wind and solar sources.
