

Cloud Computing Checklist

The IT organizations that will be most successful in transitioning to the cloud will be those that approach it strategically and methodically. As you think about moving one or more workloads to an internal or external cloud infrastructure, have you ____

- Analyzed your portfolio and prioritized the applications that would benefit most from a cloud computing approach?
- Achieved 100 percent virtualization of the workloads you are targeting for cloud, including virtualizing infrastructure (servers, storage, network)?
- Considered or defined the standard services you want to offer, with the associated service levels?
- Outlined, and in some cases re-defined, security protocols and compliance requirements?
- Optimized your architecture, infrastructure and organizational procedures and policies, including governance, to support a service consumption model?
- Considered how to change your approach to capacity planning, given you will be using a shared pool of managed resources and that end users will have direct access to system resources?
- Discussed how you will perform chargeback or showback to users and the business?
- Considered the change management in IT, lines of business, procurement and more that will be required to support the move to cloud computing, including changes in roles, education, training and certification procedures?

Whether you have considered none, accomplished some or completed all of the items on this list, VMware has the solutions and experts to assist you in developing and implementing a strategy that is right for you and your organization.
