Murphy,2002 Consists of descriptive listings of commercially published tests It serves as a comprehensive index to all the Mental Measurement Yearbooks published to date Religious Responses to Earthquake and Volcanic Eruption Disasters David Chester,Angus Duncan,John Duncan,2024-07-26 This book argues that although secular and religious perspectives on disasters have often conflicted today there are grounds for believing that the world's major faiths have much to contribute to the processes of post disaster recovery and future disaster risk reduction DRR It seeks to demonstrate how contemporary dialogues between theologians disaster scholars and policymakers are defining new ways of working together These explore how the resources of religious communities e.g buildings human resources and finance may be used to foster successful policies of DRR particularly in the aftermath of earthquakes and volcanic eruptions Musing on the relationships between religion and disasters has occurred for millennia and has affected many societies worldwide In societies where the world's major religions Buddhism Christianity Hinduism Islam Judaism and Shinto have been and remain dominant attempting to find supernatural explanations for disasters has occurred throughout history and there have been many theologies seeking to explain why people suffer losses It is argued that developments both within these traditions of faith and in how disasters are understood by the hazard research community of researchers and planners have allowed a new modus vivendi to emerge which emphasises both a recognition of religious worldviews by academic writers and disaster planners on the one hand and a desire by people of faith and their leaders to be more fully committed to the goals of DRR The book will appeal to those who are interested in the interface between disasters and theology across the principal religions of the world This includes researchers and students in geology geography theology and religious studies It will also be useful for specialist academic audience and the educated general reader

Student and Teacher Writing Motivational Beliefs Steve Graham, Gary A. Troia, Gustaf Bernhard Uno Skar, 2024-06-21 The study of students motivational beliefs about writing and how such beliefs influence writing has increased since the publication of John Hays 1996 model of writing This model emphasized that writers motivational beliefs influence how and what they write Likewise increased attention has been devoted in recent years to how teachers motivational beliefs about writing especially their efficacy to teach writing impact how writing is taught and how students progress as writers As a result there is a need to bring together in a Research Topic studies that examine the role and influence of writing beliefs Historically the psychological study of writing has focused on what students write or the processes they apply when writing Equally important but investigated less often are studies examining how writing is taught and how teachers efforts contribute to students writing What has been less prominent in the psychological study of writing are the underlying motivational beliefs that drive or inhibit students writing or serve as catalysts for teachers actions in the classroom when teaching writing This Research Topic will bring together studies that examine both students and teachers motivational beliefs about teaching writing This will include studies examining the operation of such beliefs how they develop cognitive and affective correlates how writing motivational beliefs can be fostered and how they are related to students writing achievement By focusing on both students and teachers beliefs the Research Topic will provide a more nuanced and broader picture of the role of motivation beliefs in writing and writing instruction This Research Topic includes papers that address students motivational beliefs about writing teachers motivational beliefs about writing or teaching writing Students motivational beliefs about writing include beliefs about the value and utility of writing writing competence attitudes toward writing goal orientation motives for writing identity epistemological underpinnings writing and attributions for success failure as examples Teacher motivational include these same judgements as well as beliefs about their preparation and their students competence and progress as writers to provide additional examples This Research Topic is interested in papers that examine how such beliefs operate develop are related to other cognitive and affective variables how they are impacted by instruction and how they are related to students writing performance Submitted studies can include original research both quantitative qualitative or mixed methods meta analysis and reviews of the literature

From Immigrants to Americans Jacob L. Vigdor,2010-01-16 Immigration has always caused immense public concern especially when the perception is that immigrants are not assimilating into society they way they should or perhaps the way they once did Americans are frustrated as they try to order food hire laborers or simply talk to someone they see on the street and cannot communicate with them because the person is an immigrant who has not fully adopted American culture or language But is this truly a modern phenomenon In From Immigrants to Americans Jacob Vigdor offers a direct comparison of the experiences of immigrants in the United States from the mid 19th century to the present day His conclusions are both unexpected and fascinating Vigdor shows how the varying economic situations immigrants come from has always played an important role in their assimilation The English language skills of contemporary immigrants are actually quite good compared to the historical average but those who arrive without knowing English are learning at slower rates He continues to argue that today s immigrants face far fewer incentives to assimilate and offers a set of assimilation friendly policies From Immigrants to Americans is an important book for anyone interested in immigration either the history or the modern implications or who want to understand why today s immigrants seem so different from previous generations of immigrants and how much they are the same Co published with the Manhattan Institute
