Acting Hindi S:

Acting Mary Beth Osnes,2001-12-07 A groundbreaking cross cultural reference work exploring the diversity of expression found in rituals festivals and performances uncovering acting techniques and practices from around the world Acting An International Encyclopedia explores the amazing diversity of dramatic expression found in rituals festivals and live and filmed performances Its hundreds of alphabetically arranged fully referenced entries offer insights into famous players writers and directors as well as notable stage and film productions from around the world and throughout the history of theater cinema and television The book also includes a surprising array of additional topics including important venues from Greek amphitheaters to Broadway and Hollywood acting schools the Actor s Studio and companies the Royal Shakespeare performance genres from religious pageants to puppetry technical terms of the actor s art and much more It is a unique resource for exploring the techniques performers use to captivate their audiences and how those techniques have evolved to meet the demands of performing through Greek masks and layers of Kabuki makeup in vast halls or tiny theaters or for the unforgiving eye of the camera

And The Music Lives On Manek Premchand,2024-10-30 And The Music Lives On is an authoritative compilation of articles focusing on the Hindi film music of the Golden Era It emphatically highlights the exceptional composers singers and lyricists of that time It provides in depth explanations of musical concepts such as Scherzando and Doo wop supported by numerous examples Additionally it includes a diverse range of topics from songs sung on bullock carts to a comprehensive chapter on qawwalis Moreover it vividly portrays the dedication of actor Balraj Sahni who would shoot during the day and spend his nights in prison This book is an invaluable treasure trove of information

Sentimental Songs, Melodrama and Filmic Narrative in Bollywood's Golden Age (1951-1963) Jasmine Sofia Jannif,2026-01-13 The considerably large critical literature on Bollywood cinema is marked by an absence as it has not engaged fully with the ways in which songs lead to the memorial construction of films and how a spectator connects with films through their songs The studies tended to deflect the emotional dimension of songs their internal lyrical structure and their intertextual connections in favour of readings that treat songs as subsidiary to other formal elements Consequently there was little understanding of songs and their complex relationship with the narrative of the film To address this absence this book begins by taking a look at the prior history of Bollywood songs since the arrival of talkies with the film Alam Ara 1931 The chapter takes the reader through the journey of film songs from synchronous singing and music during production to non diegetic music and the playback singer In addition the somewhat disparate filmic milieu of history emotion and ethics much of which are drawn from traditional texts served to affirm the values of a secular India Melodrama mediated via Indian theories of sentimentality became one of the key colonial discourses through which the politico social order was critiqued and Indianness celebrated The book then raises the question Can one speak about periods After defending periodisation in this instance because it does have heuristic value the argument is given added support by positing melodrama as the dominant dramatic mode of Indian Hindi Bollywood cinema of the Golden Age The term melodrama is used to designate a film genre marked by sentimental songs that appeal to the heightened emotions of the spectator Because emotionality is central to the concept of melodrama a consideration of how emotions may be theorised is also given The Indian classical concept of rasa is examined to provide a theoretical frame that is both historical and indigenous Sentimental and melodramatic emotion ultimately enhanced cinema's ethical role in building a post colonial nation a nation that was emerging from the trauma of partition as well as the excesses of colonisation However by focusing with holistic lens on the period in question the Golden Age the book finesses the value of periodisation in this instance Frame analyses of a sample of song sequences from a variety of films are used to demonstrate the roles of various song registers and the way these different registers as identified in the appendices work within the narrative The argument for a connection between songs and narrative in the period is strengthened by an examination of the elements of song picturisation most notably body movement mise en sc nes lyrics vocal expression lighting shots and music A close examination of these elements reinforced the links between felt emotion and the melodramatic form in the Golden Age Furthermore it is argued that while Indian theories of emotional responses notably rasa theory recognised the place of cathartic outpouring in any dramatic presentation the shape and structure of Bollywood cinema was indebted to the melodramatic imaginary that came to India with British colonisation The archival material on English novels read in colonial times indicated that novels dealing with the man of feeling novels such as Henry Mackenzie's The Man of Feeling 1771 and Oliver Goldsmith's The Vicar of Wakefield 1766 provided the melodramatic structures within which native structures of feeling as in the varied rasas may be given felt presence That structure and its emotional pulling power dictated cinema and especially the cinema of the Golden Age There are direct links between Devdas 1935 a seminal film based on a sentimental Bengali novel and Pyaasa 1957 and these links speak to the presence of English discourses of sentimentality Such was their pervasive power indeed their affective intensities and strength that no film of the Golden Age of Bollywood escaped from their enervating and ineluctable presence The argument of the book as indicated above is followed through with references to many films The instance of the Islamicate film Mughal e Azam 1960 is taken up as an example of the power and pervasiveness of the melodramatic temper and the role of songs even when the cinematic genre is that of an epic A close paradigmatic reading of this film shows how the evocative power of sentimentality emotional capital and the genre of melodrama invades an historical narrative and transforms history To give greater depth to the place of songs sentimentality and melodrama the book turns to the two exceptional auteurs of the Golden Age Raj Kapoor and Guru Dutt Between them these two auteurs demonstrate a range of filmic articulations of songs in Hindi cinema and their films illustrate in an exemplary fashion the role of songs in carrying the melodramatic and sentimental narrative of a film The Hindi film auteur as producer director and actor not only imposes his special style on his films but is visible on the screen itself This book is primarily concerned with songs from the Golden Age of Hindi cinema 1951

1963 a period in Hindi film history when emotion sentiment and melodrama were regularly combined to create affective intensities The registers moods and in some cases ragas of songs have been examined over a broad corpus of examples to identify their effect on the spectator their role in the narrative of the film and their thematisation associated with specific emotional states In so doing the book theorises sentimentality and melodrama in the context of Hindi film songs to more fully identify the nature of sentimentality and to more fully understand the way songs play a role in the melodramatic form
