Methods for the Economic Evaluation of Health Care Programmes Michael F. Drummond, Mark J. Sculpher, Karl Claxton, Greg L. Stoddart, George W. Torrance, 2015-09-25 The purpose of economic evaluation is to inform decisions intended to improve healthcare The new edition of Methods for the Economic Evaluation of Health Care Programmes equips the reader with the necessary tools and understanding required to undertake evaluations by providing an outline of key principles and a tool kit based on the authors own experiences of undertaking economic evaluations Building on the strength of the previous edition the accessible writing style ensures the text is key reading for the non expert reader as no prior knowledge of economics is required The book employs a critical appraisal framework which is useful both to researchers conducting studies and to decision makers assessing them Practical examples are provided throughout to aid learning and understanding The book discusses the analytical and policy challenges that face health systems in seeking to allocate resources efficiently and fairly New chapters include Principles of economic evaluation and Making decisions in healthcare which introduces the reader to core issues and questions about resource allocation and provides an understanding of the fundamental principles which guide decision making A key part of evidence based decision making is the analysis of all the relevant evidence to make informed decisions and policy The new chapter Identifying synthesising and analysing evidence highlights the importance of systematic review and how and why these methods are used As methods of analysis continue to develop the chapter on Characterising reporting and interpreting uncertainty introduces the reader to recent methods of analysis and why characterizing uncertainty matters for health care decisions The fourth edition of Methods for the Economic Evaluation of Health Care Programmes has been thoroughly revised and updated making it essential reading for anyone commissioning undertaking or using economic evaluations in health care including health service professionals health economists and health care decision makers

Methods for the Economic Evaluation of Health Care Programmes, 1997 Theory and Methods of Economic Evaluation of Health Care Magnus Johannesson, 1996-05-31 Most economic evaluations of health care programmes at the moment are cost effectiveness and cost utility analyses The problem with these methods is that their theoretical foundations are unclear This has led to confusion about how to define the costs and health effects and how to interpret the results of these studies In the environmental and traffic safety fields it is instead common to carry out traditional cost bene fit analyses of health improving programmes This striking difference in how health programmes are assessed in different fields was the original motivation for writing this book The aim of the book is to try and provide a coherent framework within cost bene fit analysis and welfare economics for the different methods of economic evaluation in the health care field The book is written in an easily accessible manner and several examples of applications of the different methods are provided It is my hope that it will be useful both for teaching purposes and as a guide for practitioners in the field Glenn C Blomquist John D Graham Rich O Connor and four anonymous referees provided helpful comments on previous versions of the manuscript I would also like to express my gratitude to the following persons for helping me to prepare the manuscript Carl Magnus Berglund Carin Blanksvard Ann Brown and Ziad Obeid
