Race and Racism in Modern East Asia Rotem Kowner, Walter Demel, 2015-04-21 A sequel to the groundbreaking volume Race and Racism in Modern East Asia Western and Eastern Constructions the present volume examines in depth interactions between Western racial constructions of East Asians and local constructions of race and their outcomes in modern times Focusing on China Japan and the two Koreas it also analyzes the close ties between race racism and nationalism as well as the links race has had with gender and lineage in the region Written by some of the field's leading authorities this insightful and engaging 23 chapter volume offers a sweeping overview and analysis of racial constructions and racism in modern and contemporary East Asia that is unsurpassed in previous scholarship      Culture, Music Education, and the Chinese Dream in Mainland China

Wai-Chung Ho, 2018-01-04 This book focuses on the rapidly changing sociology of music as manifested in Chinese society and Chinese education It examines how social changes and cultural politics affect how music is currently being used in connection with the Chinese dream While there is a growing trend toward incorporating the Chinese dream into school education and higher education there has been no scholarly discussion to date The combination of cultural politics transformed authority relations and officially approved songs can provide us with an understanding of the official content on the Chinese dream that is conveyed in today's Chinese society and how these factors have influenced the renewal of values based education and practices in school music education in China      Discourses of Race and Rising China

Yinghong Cheng, 2019-02-06 This book is a critical study of the development of a racialised nationalism in China exploring its unique characteristics and internal tensions and connecting it to other forms of global racism The growth of this discourse is contextualised within the party state's political agenda to seek legitimacy in various groups efforts to carve their demands in a divided national community and has directly affected identity politics across the global diasporic Chinese community While there remains considerable debate in both academic literature and popular discussion about how the concept of race is relevant to Chinese expressions of identity Cheng makes a forceful case for the appropriateness of biological and familial narratives of descent for understanding Chinese nationalism today Grounded in a strong conceptual framework and substantiated with rich materials Discourses of Race and Rising China will be an important contribution to international studies of racism and will appeal to academics and students of contemporary China historians of modern China and those who work in the fields of critical race ethnicity and cultural studies The Listener, 1929 Chinese Love Poetry Anne Birrell, 1995 Chinese Television and National Identity Construction Lauren Gorfinkel, 2017-11-03 This book examines music entertainment programmes on China Central Television China's only national level television network as well as on nationally available provincial channels exploring how such programmes project a nuanced image of China's identity and position in the world It shows how the images presented primarily to domestic audiences are in step with China's party state nationalism and at the same time flexible and open to change as China's circumstances change The book contextualises identity construction in the media by examining the development of television in China and the political struggles between provincial and national television stations as well as by foregrounding the historical and contemporary role of musical culture in China's nation building project It discusses the portrayal of the majority Han Chinese and of ethnic minorities and their music which the author argues are shown as fitting with the party state rhetoric of a unitary multi ethnic state It also outlines how the Chinese of Greater China Hong Kong Taiwan Macao and the overseas Chinese are incorporated into a mainland centred Chinese identity In addition it shows how the performances of foreign personalities on the Chinese television stage emphasise foreigners attraction to China the uniqueness of the Chinese nation and Chinese civilisation and the revitalised role of China in the world Overall the book demonstrates how the variations of Chinese identity fit with prevailing political ideologies in China and with the emerging theme of a China centred world Chinese Heart-throbs Jennie V. Hughes, 1920 Heart Songs Joe Mitchell Chapple, 1909 Heart Songs is more than a collection of music It is a book compiled directly by twenty thousand people who not only sent in their favorite songs but in accompanying letters told how these songs had been interwoven with the story of their own lives p iii Popular Music, Cultural Politics and Music Education in China Wai-Chung Ho, 2016-12-08 While attention has been paid to various aspects of music education in China to date no single publication has systematically addressed the complex interplay of sociopolitical transformations underlying the development of popular music and music education in the multilevel culture of China Before the implementation of the new curriculum reforms in China at the beginning of the twenty first century there was neither Chinese nor Western popular music in textbook materials Popular culture had long been prohibited in school music education by China's strong revolutionary orientation which feared spiritual pollution by Western cultures However since the early twenty first century education reform has attempted to help students deal with experiences in their daily lives and has officially included learning the canon of popular music in the music curriculum In relation to this topic this book analyses how social transformation and cultural politics have affected community relations and the transmission of popular music through school music education Ho presents music and music education as sociopolitical constructions of nationalism and globalization Moreover how popular music is received in national and global contexts and how it affects the construction of social and musical meanings in school music education as well as the reformation of music education in mainland China is discussed Based on the perspectives of school music teachers and students the findings of the empirical studies in this book address the power and potential use of popular music in school music education as a producer and reproducer of cultural politics in the music curriculum in the mainland
