Study Tip

Draw animal and plant cells: Draw an outline of an animal cell and add structures, labels, and functions. Draw a plant cell labeled with structures unique to plant cells.

Figure 6.1 The cell is an organism's basic unit of structure and function. Many forms of life exist as single-celled organisms, such as the Paramecium shown here. Larger, more complex organisms, including plants and animals, are multicellular. In this chapter, we focus mainly on eukaryotic cells—cells with a nucleus.

How does the internal organization of eukaryotic cells allow them to perform the functions of life?

Internal membranes divide a cell, such as this plant cell, into compartments where specific chemical reactions occur.

Energy and matter transformations

A system of internal membranes synthesizes and modifies proteins, lipids, and carbohydrates.

Chloroplasts convert light energy to chemical energy.

Mitochondria break down molecules, generating ATP.

Interactions with the environment

The plasma membrane controls what goes into and out of the cell.

Plant cells have a protective cell wall.

Genetic information storage and transmission

DNA in the nucleus contains instructions for making proteins.

Ribosomes are the sites of protein synthesis.
