Artificial Unintelligence Meredith Broussard, 2019-01-29 A software developer s misadventures in computer programming machine learning and artificial intelligence reveal why we should never assume technology always get it right In Artificial Unintelligence Meredith Broussard argues that our collective enthusiasm for applying computer technology to every aspect of life has resulted in a tremendous amount of poorly designed systems We are so eager to do everything digitally hiring driving paying bills even choosing romantic partners that we have stopped demanding that our technology actually work Broussard a software developer and journalist reminds us that there are fundamental limits to what we can and should do with technology With this book she offers a guide to understanding the inner workings and outer limits of technology and issues a warning that we should never assume that computers always get things right Making a case against technochauvinism the belief that technology is always the solution Broussard argues that it s just not true that social problems would inevitably retreat before a digitally enabled Utopia To prove her point she undertakes a series of adventures in computer programming She goes for an alarming ride in a driverless car concluding the cyborg future is not coming any time soon uses artificial intelligence to investigate why students can t pass standardized tests deploys machine learning to predict which passengers survived the Titanic disaster and attempts to repair the U S campaign finance system by building AI software If we understand the limits of what we can do with technology Broussard tells us we can make better choices about what we should do with it to make the world better for everyone

Programming Languages and Systems S. Doaitse Swierstra,2003-07-31 This is the second time that of ESOP has formed part of the ETAPS cluster of conferences workshops working group meetings and other associated activities One of the results of colocalizingso many conferences is a reduction in the number of possibilities to submit a paper to a European conference and the increased competition between conferences that occurs when boundaries between individual conferences have not yet become well established This may have been the reason for the fact that only 44 submission were received this year On the other hand we feel that the average quality of submissions has gone up and thus the program committee was able to select

18 good papers only one less than the year before The program committee did not meet physically and all discussion was done using a Web driven data base system Despite some mixed feelings there is an overall tendency to appreciate the extra time available for giving papers a second look and really going into comments made by other program committee members I want to thank my fellow program committee members for the work they have put into the refereeing process and the valuable feedback they have given to authors I want to thank the referees for their work and many detailed comments and finally I want to thank everyone who has submitted a paper without authors no conference
