

The background of the entire image is a soft, hazy sunset or sunrise over a body of water. The sky is a mix of light blue, purple, and orange. In the foreground, a person's hand is shown from the right side, palm up, holding a small bird. The bird is in flight, with its wings spread, and is positioned just above the hand. The overall mood is peaceful and hopeful.

The Lived Experience of Forgiveness Steen Halling,2023-09-18 The Lived Experience of Forgiveness Phenomenological and Psychological Perspectives remedies the absence of systematic research on the experience of forgiveness by bringing together the work of five psychologists one philosopher and one theologian The contributors have researched various aspects of forgiveness through interviews and field work allowing for a clarification of this topic and providing a basis for evaluating the often contradictory assertions of the existing literature Edited by Steen Halling this volume demonstrates the value of careful study of human experience by examining forgiveness in its various manifestations within a phenomenological framework that strives to set aside and question presuppositions whether they be religious philosophical or psychological and look at phenomena with fresh eyes This approach enables a more creative and productive dialogue among the disciplines of psychology theology and philosophy with experience as a common reference point and thereby leads to a deeper understanding of the phenomenon of forgiveness

Archives of the Insensible Allen Feldman,2015-12-08 In this jarring look at contemporary warfare and political visibility renowned anthropologist of violence Allen Feldman provocatively argues that contemporary sovereign power mobilizes asymmetric clandestine and ultimately unending war as a will to truth Whether responding to the fantasy of weapons of mass destruction or an existential threat to civilization Western political sovereignty seeks to align justice humanitarian right and democracy with technocratic violence and visual dominance Connecting Guantanamo tribunals to the South African Truth and Reconciliation Commission American counterfeit killings in Afghanistan to the Baader Meinhof paintings of Gerhard Richter and the video erasure of Rodney King to lynching photography and political animality among other scenes of terror Feldman contests sovereignty's claims to transcendental right whether humanitarian neoliberal or democratic by showing how dogmatic truth is crafted and terror indemnified by the prosecutorial media and materiality of war Excavating a scenography of trials formal or covert orchestrated or improvised criminalizing or criminal

Feldman shows how the will to truth disappears into the very violence it interrogates. He maps the sensory inscriptions and erasures of war, highlighting war as a media that severs factuality from actuality to render violence just. He proposes that war promotes anesthesiology that interdicts the witness of a sensory and affective commons that has the capacity to speak truth to war. Feldman uses layered deconstructive description to decelerate the ballistical tempo of war to salvage the embodied actualities and material histories that war reduces to the ashes of collateral damage, the automatism of drones and the opacities of black sites. The result is a penetrating work that marries critical visual theory, political philosophy, anthropology, and media archeology into a trenchant dissection of emerging forms of sovereignty and state power that war now makes possible.

Full of human wisdom, this is a psychologically acute and absorbing approach to a very important subject. PHILIP PULLMAN. In this inspiring work, Richard Holloway tackles the great theme of forgiveness. One of the most important books on this essential topic. On Forgiveness draws on the great philosophers and writers such as Frederick Nietzsche, Jacques Derrida, and Nelson Mandela.
