

A black and white photograph of a church interior. The view is from the back of the sanctuary, looking down a long aisle lined with rows of wooden pews. The pews are mostly empty, with a few people visible in the distance. The lighting is soft, and the overall atmosphere is quiet and contemplative. The text of the title is overlaid on the upper portion of the image.

Banner, 1999-09-28 This book addresses such key ethical issues as euthanasia the environment biotechnology abortion the family sexual ethics and the distribution of health care resources Michael Banner argues that the task of Christian ethics is to understand the world and humankind in the light of the credal affirmations of the Christian faith and to explicate this understanding in its significance for human action through a critical engagement with the concerns claims and problems of other ethics He illustrates both the distinctiveness of Christian convictions in relation to the above issues and also the critical dialogue with practices based on other convictions which this sense of distinctiveness motivates but does not prevent The book's importance lies in its attempt to show the crucial difference which Christian belief makes to an understanding of these issues whilst at the same time demonstrating some of the weaknesses and confusions of certain popular approaches to them Christian Ethics and Contemporary Moral Problems Michael C..
