Estimating in Building Construction Frank R. Dagostino, Leslie Feigenbaum, Clint Kissoon, 2008 Everything needed for a course in Estimating is provided in this proven text which combines coverage of principles with step by step procedures Ideal for construction architecture and engineering students it reflects the popular approach of tracing a complete project s progress The use of computers as a key estimating tool is incorporated throughout

Building Construction Estimating Stephen D. Schuette, Roger W. Liska, 1994 Building Construction Estimating furnishes readers with specific details on how a general building contractor derives the cost of a project before it begins and how the estimate fits into the total construction process The book provides coverage of such areas as determining labor productivity and wages selecting equipment and assigning productivity rates and costs acquiring specialty contractor prices and assigning overhead costs and profit The material is presented from the point of view of a general contractor working on a competitively bid stipulated sum lump sum contract However other contract methods and the effects they have on the estimating process are also discussed Furthermore the principles of estimating for the specialty trades are discussed from the reference of a general building contractor and how the subcontractor s bid will affect the total project cost is presented

Of special note is the book's introduction and utilization of computers in the estimating process enabling readers to utilize new technology in an effective and efficient manner. The book is organized in a way that first teaches the reader to perform many of the estimating activities manually then guides them in developing a computer spreadsheet. The use of spreadsheets empowers the reader to go beyond the manual calculations and develop new and more proficient solutions to estimating problems.

Construction Cost Data, 1989 R S Means Company, Means, R. S., Staff, 1988-12 Construction Management Daniel W. Halpin, Bolivar A. Senior, Gunnar Lucko, 2017-08-07 It is often said that the construction professional has to be a jack of all trades and master of all. This text covers a wide range of subjects reflecting the breadth of knowledge needed to understand the dynamics of this large and complex industry. This edition includes updated chapters on planning and scheduling, a new chapter addressing linear scheduling methods, material regarding the historical background of construction as a profession, and includes an Instructor Resource of solutions to the end of chapter review exercises. This text has become a standard course text at many universities. The first four editions have enjoyed wide success as an introductory treatment of the subjects which are critical to success in the construction industry. This fifth edition preserves the features that have been most appreciated by its users throughout the years and adds suggestions provided by instructors and students through formal surveys and informal feedback to the authors.
