Practitioner Perspectives on the Impact of Collaborative Documentation on the Therapeutic Alliance J. Mark Kaufman, 2012 Abstract Collaborative documentation CD also known as concurrent documentation is the practice of creating the case record in the presence of the client This is often done in collaboration with the client where the client has input into what is written in the clinical record This practice is relatively new and there is disagreement among practitioners about how this can impact the therapeutic alliance between the practitioner and the client Some say that it could harm their relationships with the clients they serve others report improvements in the therapeutic alliance This study explored the relationship between the practice of CD and the quality of the therapeutic alliance Five practitioners were selected who use CD in providing mental health services Each was interviewed utilizing an interview schedule based on the short form of the Working Alliance Inventory short WAI s Horvath Greenberg 1989 Findings included variance in the practitioner perceptions of the impact of CD on the therapeutic alliance but did support that when certain ways of practicing CD are used the impact can be a positive one Some practitioners were more skeptical of the positive impact of CD on the therapeutic alliance but most agreed that it is helpful in gaining improved agreement between practitioner and client on goals A Practical Guide to Clinical Documentation in Behavioral Health Care Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations, 1997-01-01
