

Module 1 – Drawing Set Organization

1.1 SHEET IDENTIFICATION

The sheet identification format typically used in traditional construction drawing sets includes, however, the essential system details, number, drawing, and title block distributed more consistently in building and engineering sheets. These techniques have also provided an opportunity to expand the use of the sheet identifier. Accordingly, the sheet identification format is a key part of V8i®.

1.1.1 Standard Sheet Identification

The sheet identification format is applicable to both manual and CAD drawings/production. It is consistent, yet flexible enough for a wide range of project types. The V8i sheet identification format standard uses consistent, but following, components:

- 1. The discipline designator – consisting of one alphanumeric character and a hyphen or two alphanumeric characters.
- 2. The sheet type designator – consisting of one numerical character.
- 3. The sheet sequence number – consisting of two numerical characters.

The use of the discipline designator identifies the sheet as a member of a project. A sheet type designator identifies the type information on the sheet is followed by the sheet sequence number.

Regarding the use of sheet type designators, V8i offers two levels of sheet identification. Below is a list of a subset of a combination of the sheet numbers used to suit the content of the disciplines of the drawings. Level 1 offers the simplest sheet type designator and would be suitable for all but the most complex projects. Level 2 provides guidance for complex or special types of projects. Refer to V8i Appendix A – Discipline Designators, V8i version 2.0 for examples of the two levels of sheet identification.

Note that the hyphen in the Level 1 discipline designator is a required sheet number in the presence of the second character. The hyphen is optional rather than a required part due to the use of the “00” as a substitute for spaces. Accordingly, an underscore may be used to replace the hyphen when appropriate regarding content sheet set sheet numbers in the name.

1.1.2 Discipline Designator

The first component of the sheet identification format, the discipline designator, is based on the building system of architectural discipline designators, using either a single alphanumeric character and a hyphen or two to an alphanumeric character (level 2).

The discipline designator denotes the category of subject matter contained on the sheet in the sheet description. It must appear:
