

CHAPTER 5: RESEARCH DESIGN AND METHODOLOGY

5.1 INTRODUCTION

In Chapter One an orientation of the research was provided. This study focuses on the needs and competencies of school sport managers. These are required for the sport management training of educators, in accordance with the diverse needs of South African schools (cf. par. 1.3.2, p. 12). As a result of the problem statement referred to in Chapter One, the all-encompassing aim of this study is to develop a sport management programme for educator training. It is essential to analyse the existing knowledge, as a background to the current study. In this way, the researcher endeavours to generate new knowledge, which could make sport management and educator training more purposeful, efficient and sustainable. Consequently, this chapter strives to operationalise the theme of the research design and methodology in the current study, as well as to substantiate the choices made in the study.

The research design is applied so that suitable research methods are used to ensure the attainment of the goals and objectives set out in Chapter One. Hence the reason (rationale) for a discussion of the research design and methodology: Firstly, this is to provide the plan or blueprint for the research. Secondly, this should enable the researcher to anticipate the appropriate research design, to ensure the validity of the final results. Nevertheless, it is important that different views are analysed; thereafter, the methodology will be discussed. However, first it is important to consider a theoretical framework for the research design.

5.2 THEORETICAL FRAMEWORK FOR THE RESEARCH DESIGN AND METHODOLOGY

One of the challenges facing the researcher is the difficulty in relating to and understanding the role and importance of theory in research. Consequently, the concept of theory necessitates some clarification. In this regard, Verma and Mallick (1999:6) as well as Blumberg, Cooper and Schindler (2011:36) are of the opinion that the main role of theory is to help to guide the researcher. In the social sciences, it usually implies a set of statements describing and explaining the relationship between human behaviour and the factors that affect or explain it. Paraphrasing Best and Khan (2006:10), a theory could best be described as an attempt to develop a general explanation for some phenomenon. More specifically, a theory, according to these authors, defines non-observable constructs that are inferred from observable facts and events, and are thought to have an effect on the phenomenon under study. It further implies that a theory describes the relationship among key variables for explaining a current state or predicting future concurrences.

The Development of Past Tense Morphology in L2 Spanish M. Rafael Salaberry, 2001-02-12 This book presents an extended analysis of the development of L2 Spanish past tense morphology among L1 English speaking learners The study addresses three major questions 1 what is the developmental pattern of acquisition of past tense verbal morphology among tutored learners 2 what are the relevant factors that may account for the particular distribution of morphological endings especially at the beginning stages and 3 how does instruction affect the movement from one stage to the next The analysis provides a reassessment of the general claim of Andersen's lexical aspect hypothesis and proposes minor changes that may render the hypothesis more appropriate for especially L2 classroom learning The study includes an overview of theoretical positions on the notion of lexical versus grammatical aspect and a comparison of the findings from previous empirical studies on the development of past tense verbal morphology among both classroom and naturalistic learners

A Hypothetical Enhanced Renewable Energy Utilization (EREU) Model for Electricity Generation in Thailand

Thomas Andexer, 2008-10-29 Master's Thesis from the year 2008 in the subject Environmental Sciences grade Passed Assumption University of Thailand College of Internet Distance Education CIDE School of Business Administration course Master Thesis Project language English abstract This thesis presents a research project entitled A Hypothetical Enhanced Renewable Energy Utilization EREU Model for Electricity Generation in Thailand This research is motivated by Thailand's rapidly increasing electricity consumption caused by the country's long standing above average economic growth Consequently the rising electricity demand can only be satisfied by continuously growing electricity imports and thus creating a significant burden to Thailand's national budget Further more Thailand is heavily dependent on natural gas reserves for electricity generation however these are expected to be depleted within only three decades and global price levels for conventional fuels are increasingly volatile with an ascending tendency as well Therefore Thailand faces an urgent need to strategically plan for the broad utilization of domestic renewable energy resources which is essential for a more diversified and thus sustainable electricity generation as well as for the nation's endeavor to become an energy hub within the South East Asian region Under these circumstances this research conducts a comprehensive literature review regarding the past development as well as the current situation of renewable energy utilization in Thailand which concludes in the identification of the importance of renewable energy in the given context and closes with both a distinctive need assessment and a conceptual framework for Thailand's future renewable energy strategy Subsequently the research introduces a unique primary research endeavor in the form of an explorative expert interview survey which succeeds in a substantial collection of qualitative and in depth data These valuable data is first objectively analyzed and second subjectively interpreted and summarized to become the major source for the derivation of a multitude of potential strategic recommendations for an enhanced future renewable energy utilization development in Thailand Finally the entirety of these recommended strategic approaches based on both the secondary and primary research are assembled to develop the Enhanced Renewable Energy Utilization EREU model for electricity generation in Thailand as the fundamental finding of this thesis and research project respectively
