Jackie Kay Poet:

Reality, Reality Jackie Kay, 2012-07-01 At the beating heart of Reality Reality are moments of reaching out to family friends and lovers These are stories about food sex and memories about sharing them or yearning to or seeking solace in being alone A woman takes a week off work to cook her way into the imaginary TV finals of MasterChef Another sits at the window of her care home aware that the fullest life in the place is her own mind We meet a woman who flees to give birth another overcome by dreams of the child she never had and one condemned to live for ever to give birth to lose and to sing for generations All have voices that will not let you go that give flight to rich inner lives and provoke laughter and tears As ever in this newest and most luminous of collections Jackie Kay finds dignity in solitude humour in love and something universal in longing

Other Lovers Jackie Kay, 1993 Jackie Kay's first collection The Adoption Papers marked the emergence of an exciting new talent in contemporary poetry In her second collection Other Lovers she achieves an even greater range exploring the qualities of love in a variety of relationships rooted in the past or present All the poems from the book are included in Darling 2007

Bantam Jackie Kay, 2017-10-31 Bantam brings three generations into sharp focus Jackie Kay's own her father's and his own father's in a book that shows how the body holds its own story how a shrapnel injury from the First World War can emerge years later how we bear and absorb the loss of others how we celebrate and welcome new life how we how we embody our times whether we want to or not The poems collected in Bantam cross borders from Rannoch Moor to the Somme from Brexit to Bronte country Who are we Who might we want to be These are poems that sing of what connects us and lament what divides us poems that send daylight into the dark that threatens to overwhelm us and could not be more necessary for the times in which we live

Wish I was Here Jackie Kay, 2010-07 This fierce funny and compassionate collection explores every facet of that most overwhelming and complicated of human emotions love With winning directness Jackie Kay captures her characters greatest joy and greatest vulnerability exposing the moments of tenderness of shock of bravery and stupidity that accompany the search for love the discovery of love and most of all love's loss

Red Dust Road Jackie Kay, 2017-10-19 With an introduction by Nicola Sturgeon Like the best memoirs this one is written with novelistic and poetic flair Red Dust Road is a fantastic probing and heart warming read Independent From the moment when as a little girl she realizes that her skin is a different colour from that of her beloved mum and dad to the tracing and finding of her birth parents her Highland mother and Nigerian father Jackie Kay's journey in Red Dust Road is one of unexpected twists turns and deep emotions In a book remarkable for its warmth and candour she discovers that inheritance is about much more than genes that we are shaped by songs as much as by cells and that what triumphs ultimately is love

The Adoption Papers Jackie Kay, 1991 This work tells the story of a black girl's adoption by a white Scottish couple The story is told from three different viewpoints the mother the birth mother and the daughter

Life Mask Jackie Kay, 2005 This title contains poems about love and loss masks and masquerades

Off Colour Jackie Kay, 1998

Following up on the success of her controversial collection The Adoption Papers Jackie Kay's new book explores sickness and health past and present in a dynamic and original way. The poems examine not just the sick body but the sick mind, the sick society, the sickness of racism and prejudice. Here are fresh voices: black people from Britain's past, the voice of a dying Sunday, the voice of a woman dying at the hands of the immigration authorities. The book grapples with obsessions: teeth, death, sex, color, health. A Poetry Book Society Special Commendation, Off Colour is a book for our troubled times that is strange and funny. Virus runs through the book, attacking other poems. In addition to three books of poetry, Kay has just published her first novel, Trumpet.

Red, Cherry Red Jackie Kay, 2019-09-05. A powerful poetry collection full of the drama, musicality, and lyricism that Jackie Kay is famed for. Exploring the themes of identity and age, this collection includes poems about the old days and the new days and the places associated with an older generation who often live dreamlike, isolated existences, not only geographically but also in the memory. Nature and the elements play a big role too: trees, the moon, the sea, fire. Jackie Kay's style is one moment witty, the next melancholic or gently surreal, and in this brilliant reissued collection, her poems are infused with warmth and colour. In particular, the colour RED. Perfect for fans of The Gift by Carol Ann Duffy and Rob Ryan, this gorgeous new gift edition is a must-have for any poetry fan.

Why Don't You Stop Talking Jackie Kay, 2002-01-01. The long-awaited collection of stories from award-winning Jackie Kay. Following on from Jackie Kay's award-winning first novel Trumpet, comes a collection of superlative stories. In true Kay style, these small masterpieces cover a great deal of emotional and narrative terrain, from an immaculate observation of the female physiognomy to the bewilderment of the elderly, from silent hidden love to a lifetime reminiscence of an immigrant's England. These stories are warm and tender, frightening and funny. They confirm the arrival of a major storyteller.

Red Dust Road Jackie Kay, 2011-04-13. Originally published London Picador 2010.

May Day Jackie Kay, 2024-07-30. May Day is the long-awaited new poetry collection from one of our best-loved poets and former Makar of Scotland, Jackie Kay. These poems cast an eye over several decades of political activism, from the international solidarity of the Glasgow of Kay's childhood, accompanying her parents' Socialist campaigns, through the feminist, LGBT, and anti-racist movements of the 80s and 90s, up to the present day when a global pandemic intersects with the urgency of Black Lives Matter. Kay brings to life a cast of influential figures delving beneath the surfaces of received narratives: the Jamaican model Fanny Eaton, muse of the Pre-Raphaelite Brotherhood in England, Paul Robeson, Angela Davis, and the poet Audre Lorde, and a 'what if' poem concerning Robbie Burns and a road not taken towards the West Indian slave trade. Woven through the collection is a suite of lyric poems concerning the recent losses of Kay's parents, poems of grief and profound change that are infused with the light of love and celebration.

The Lamplighter Jackie Kay, 2008. Jackie Kay's The Lamplighter takes us on a journey through the dark heart of slavery. It is both an acclaimed radio and stage play and a multi-layered epic poem. Four women and one man tell the story of the fort, the slave ship, the middle passage, the life on the plantations, the growth of the British city, and the industrial revolution. The Lamplighter focuses on parts of history other books rarely touch upon revealing the devastating human cost of slavery for individual people

BOOK JACKET Jackie Kay Tasha Alden, Fiona Tolan, 2026 Jackie Kay Critical Essays offers the first full length critical study of Kay's work It brings together a range of essays by international scholars to examine the work of a writer who has expanded the scope of British literature Jackie Kay is the author of 30 works including plays poetry prose children's literature and short stories She was the Scots Makar the national poet from 2016-2021 and has won or been shortlisted for over 20 literary awards and prizes This collection addresses the full range of Kay's writing from her earliest poetry and fiction of the 1980s through to her most recent publications including her lesser examined works such as her dramas and her writing for children Significant themes and concerns including race national identity family and life writing gender and sexuality are all examined in new critical essays that greatly expand understanding of Kay's canon The contributors show that Kay's work is remarkable for its range of genres its consistent reinvention of forms and its marriage of intimate domestic depictions of individual lives with broad political and philosophical themes This book is aimed at students and scholars of contemporary British fiction Black British literature Scottish literature and contemporary women's writing

Darling Jackie Kay, 2007 This new book brings together many favourite poems from her four Bloodaxe collections The Adoption Papers Other Lovers Off Colour and Life Mask as well as featuring new work some previously uncollected poems and some lively poetry for younger readers

Contemporary British Poetry James Acheson, Romana Huk, 1996-09-12 This collection of original essays focuses on new and continuing movements in British Poetry It offers a wide ranging look at feminist working class and other poets of diverse cultural backgrounds

Poetry Off the Page Laura Severin, 2017-03-02 This study examines the performed poetry of Charlotte Mew Anna Wickham Edith Sitwell Stevie Smith Liz Lochhead and Jackie Kay as an alternative radical tradition of British poetry developed to convey women's experience Through a historical treatment in which the poets are discussed in pairs the chapters trace how these six women used a performative poetry to deal with difficulties regarding women's representation from simply presenting difference in the case of Mew and Wickham to deconstructing difference in the case of Sitwell and Smith to avoiding the recapture of cultural imagery in the case of Lochhead and Kay Laura Severin claims that twentieth century British women poets have been neglected by both feminist and more traditional literary critics because they cannot be read within available literary frameworks Feminist criticism in particular has overlooked the value of other poetic ancestries by locating the only radical tradition of modern poetry in fractured form At least one alternative radical tradition can be found in a narrative and performed poetry that maximizes its transgressive potential with multiple framing devices Though a female poet always experiences difficulty in controlling both cultural imagery and her own public presentation these framing devices work together both to deconstruct the essentialized category of woman and to recover the multiplicity of women's experience
