The Focal Word T. J. Kelly, 1966 Transforming Vision M. Jamie Ferreira, 1991 The metaphor of a leap of faith is probably the element most widely recognized as a distinctive characteristic of a Kierkegaardian account of the transition to religious faith Both in popular and scholarly circles this leap has usually been understood in terms of an act of will power Challenging such a volitionalist view as well as some current alternatives to it which see instead only an ineffable miracle of grace Ferreira argues that Kierkegaard's striking appreciation of a variety of roles of imagination supports a reconceptualization of the leap or decision in terms of a reorienting shift in perspective and imaginative revisioning. Exploring the relation between passion and paradox in several of Kierkegaard's accounts of selfhood and developing an account of transitional choice in which imagination is a constitutive element, Ferreira elaborates an understanding of the faith transition in terms of such imaginative activities as suspension, synthesis, and engagement. The analysis of imaginative activity in these ethical and religious transitions has moreover implications which go beyond Kierkegaard scholarship for it bears importantly not only on other conversion accounts but also on the question of transitions to alternative or incommensurable conceptual frameworks in general.
