

YouTube

As we know YouTube is very strict about its policies and has often demonetised channels.

YouTube guidelines cover fake engagement, impersonification, child safety, adult content & nudity, thumbnails and external links, spams and scams, self-harm, violence, hate speech, harmful and dangerous content and more.

YouTube policies apply to all types of content on the platform, including videos, comments, links, and thumbnails.

YouTube has real people as well as AI to review the content that goes on the channel. Experts review and remove flagged content that violated the guidelines.

In case of violation YouTube removes the content and sends a warning with no penalty to the channel. After one warning they strike the channel and it has temporary restrictions like not being allowed to upload videos, live streams, or stories for a 1-week period.

Channels that receive three strikes within a 90-day period are terminated.

While Youtube is strict in terms of violations of guidelines, it's a channel open to everyone and anyone. People from every nook and corner of the world can access and use YouTube.

PATREON

Patreon also has policies on adult content, hate speech, discrimination, harassment, bullying, violence, graphic content and doxing but not as strict as YouTube. Youtube is known to kill your channels as soon as it smells something fishy (sometimes even when nothing is fishy).

Same goes with patreon. You can report a page on patreon via the reporting tool, if you see it's violating the community guidelines.

Patreon also has a Trust and Safety team and a case manager to analyze all reports in detail.

Patreon also suspends and removes profiles that deliberately spread hate or violate the community guidelines. In extreme cases they even ban the person from using Patreon.

Patreon also takes action against infringing intellectual property rights such as Deepfakes (manipulated or digitally-altered audio, video, or image works that portray a person, event, or scene in a way that is not real or did not occur).

Patreon restricts certain groups to raise funds like politicians, individuals with criminal or harmful past, hateful & violent groups, as well as any pages that promote self-harm, illegal activities or spam.
