Action and Responsibility Andrew Sneddon, 2006-01-27 This book is an exploration of what it takes for an event to count as an action I first became interested in this topic nearly a decade ago while working on a different topic I kept coming across philosophers making claims about the nature of action that seemed false or at least dubious to me As a consequence I turned to the philosophy of action directly to get to the heart of the matter I have wrestled with this territory ever since I hope that with this book I have finally earned the intuitions that put me at odds with the philosophers I was originally reading This book develops ideas in Part Two of my doctoral dissertation which I wrote at Queen s University in Kingston Ontario Canada I loved being at Queen s for both professional and personal reasons My thanks go to the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada for financial support as a doctoral candidate Steve Leighton and Ronald de Sousa were readers for my dissertation They provided some early and invaluable challenges to the ideas developed here My deepest debt of gratitude is owed to David Bakhurst my supervisor I learned a lot from David this book would not be the same without his help

The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells,2009 Concepts in Thought, Action, and Emotion Christoph Demmerling,Dirk Schröder,2020-12-29 In recent years the idea of a concept has become increasingly central to different areas of philosophy This collection of original essays presents philosophical perspectives on the link between concepts and language concepts and experience concepts and know how and concepts and emotion The essays span a variety of interrelated philosophical domains ranging from epistemology philosophy of language philosophy of mind philosophy of action and the philosophy of emotions Among the central questions addressed by the contributors are What are concepts What is nonconceptual content Does perceptual experience have conceptual content Is conceptual thought language dependent How do we form new concepts Does practical knowledge have propositional content Is practical understanding conceptual without being propositional Do emotions have a representational content and if so is the representational content conceptual Concepts in Thought Action and Emotion advances current debates about concepts and will interest scholars across a broad range of philosophical disciplines

The Philosopher's Index: Subject index ,1980 Includes original philosophy books published outside of the United States in English between 1940 and 1978 and articles published in philosophy journals between 1940 and 1966 Essays in Criminal Law Nils Jareborg,1988 Fate, Predestination, and Human Action in the Mahābhārata Peter Hill,2001 Description This study explores the history of ideas concerning karma predestination fate and the efficacy of human action in India s great epic the Mahabharata The relative importance of human action and such external causative forces as fate time and divine interference is a problem of perennial interest to the Mahabharata s innumerable composers and one which is often treated with a sense of urgency and feeling The core argument presented in the study is that despite the wide variety of views to be found in the Mahabharata it is the consistent albeit varying emphasis placed by Indian thinkers upon the importance and meaningfulness of human effort and freedom that most stands out Given Hinduism s general reputation for fatalism it is a point of some importance The reason for this would seem to lie principally with the way in which the essential concern in Hindu culture for moksa and dharma effectively pre disposed Hindu thinkers towards placing a high value upon power control and freedom
