considers how the new clauses should be interpreted whether they will transform traditional shipping contracts into more collaborative contracts and how they will interact with other clauses in the contract and with other contracts in the supply chain The contractual analysis is considered in context reflecting on enforcement issues such as Port State Control PSC the Poseidon Principles and climate change litigation The book also analyses the related topic of shipping contracts for carbon storage as a necessary means of meeting carbon reduction targets The book is intended to pave the way for understanding how core shipping contracts can work in this new context and the extent to which the new types of clauses will profoundly transform contracts It presents contributions by experienced and younger academics and practitioners from Asian European and Scandinavian legal systems

The International Convention for the Prevention of Pollution from Ships Henrik Ringbom, Aldo Chircop, 2025-02-12 This Commentary presents an in depth exploration of what is widely regarded as the most important International Maritime Organization IMO convention on vessel source pollution Leading international experts provide an authoritative analysis of the International Convention for the Prevention of Pollution from Ships 1973 78 and its subsidiary instruments collectively known as MARPOL
