The Niger-Delta has witnessed several epochs of economic transition notably from African tropical produce to slave trade and to 'legitimate commerce'. And yet within the era of 'legitimate commerce', the transition continued as evidenced in the transition from palm oil to crude oil. Essentially, the major focus of the study is the transition from palm oil to crude oil with its manifest consequences. Before now, it would seem that each transition liberalized if not democratized access to wealth by stakeholders. However, while transition to crude oil increases the prosperity of the West and the shareholders of oil conglomerates in the Western hemisphere, it has paradoxically increased poverty and want among the rural poor of the periphery enclaves of the Niger-Delta through environmental degradation. Accordingly, the wealth from crude oil that should improve the lot of the rural poor has directly shut them out of the expected benefits and thus made the people sharply aware of
