

Questions and answers concerning the ordination of women

In the future it will be possible for women to be ordained to ministry in the New Apostolic Church. This decision raises many follow-up questions. Some initial Frequently Asked Questions have already been assembled, and will be supplemented as needed.

This catalogue of questions is limited to the global policy decision and issues of a global scope. Any additional questions regarding implementation in the individual Regional Churches will be clarified by the responsible regional leadership. Answers to those questions will be developed and published there.

The team at the New Apostolic Church International is available to answer any questions you may have about the global policy decision: mail@nacl.org

Basic questions

☐ Why is the concept of ministry changing?

The understanding of church, the sacraments, and ministry are of essential significance for our Church.

The Catechism contains a well outlined understanding of the church and sacraments, but it only offers a general summary of our understanding of ministry. There was a need to better formulate our understanding of ministry and develop it to the same level as our understanding of the church and the sacraments.

☐ What ministerial designations apply to women in ministry?

Women may be ordained as Deacons, Priests, or Apostles. Beyond that, women—like men—can be appointed or assigned to perform leadership or assistant functions in the congregation, the district, or the Global Church, for example, as congregational or district rectors, assistants to the congregational or district rector, or as Bishops.

Ordination Program Suncook Baptist Church (Suncook, N.H.),1877    Ordination Marjorie Warkentin,2003-12-08 Throughout the history of the church ordination has been practiced in nearly all its branches or denominations Yet there has never been a set theology or procedure for this rite probably because there is no general agreement on what it signifies According to author Warkentin All kinds of suppositions about ordination abound The Scriptures of the New Testament are called upon to substantiate many of these assumptions but contradictory doctrines continue to coexist Warkentin s aim in this book is to examine the historical exegetical and theological sources of the rite of ordination In the course of her study several issues pertinent to church leadership practices emerge Does a representative mediatorial view of the ministry lead to encroachment on the office of the risen Lord and hinder the functioning of spiritual gifts in the church Can we arrive at authentic scriptural norms on which to base leadership patterns in our churches Warkentin s answers to these questions are both surprising and thought provoking She believes that the priesthood of all believers loses its meaning unless we recognize that true ministry Christian service can be practiced by each Christian according to his or her spiritual gifts regardless of ordination According to Warkentin The vocabulary of the New Testament permits no pyramidal forms Ordination can have no function in such a system for it sets up barriers where none should exist that is between one Christian and another and hinders the mutual service by which the church is edified    Ordination Guidelines and Study Documents North American
