Marketing Mix Standardisation in International Marketing Tobias Richter,2002 The increasing globalisation of markets and competition drives the strategic approach towards international marketing programmes to the very heart of corporate success in the beginning of the 21st century More than ever the marketing manager of today has to permanently balance the potential advantages of an international marketing standardisation and the benefits gained by an adaptation to local preferences Therefore this book aims not only at providing a strong theoretical background of key concepts past notions and the latest developments in the international marketing debate. Instead, it also focuses on key factors which determine an adequate international marketing strategy with regard to consumer goods, industrial goods, and services. Thus, this study elaborates on crucial aspects applying to international marketing managers facing global competition by analysing empirically the marketing approach chosen by the 500 largest German companies by turnover, which represent to quite some extent one of the most successful and internationally orientated economies in the world.

Contents: Standardisation debate in international marketing; Degree of marketing programme standardisation; Marketing process standardisation; Internal and external contingency factors; The impact of marketing standardisation on financial and non-financial performance.

International Marketing Strategy Frank Bradley, 1999. International Marketing Strategy focuses on the issues facing companies attempting to grow and develop in international markets. Fully revised and updated, this new third edition develops and evaluates international marketing strategies for companies at different stages of their development: those new to internationalisation, those at the growth stage, and those experienced companies attempting to extend into new markets. Five key stages of development are examined: The decision to internationalise; why, how, when, and where; Coping with international marketing environments: global and regional, the political and socio-cultural environments, and how to convert country comparative advantage; Deciding how to enter international markets using exporting, strategic alliances, and foreign investment acquisition; How to develop appropriate marketing programmes for consumer products, firms, industrial products, firms, and services, firms; Implementation and control in international markets: distribution and sales, negotiation, operational issues, and implementation and control. Invaluable text for postgraduates and advanced undergraduates studying international marketing and international business.
