You Can't Make This Up! Linda Rae Markert, 2020-10-26 In You Can't Make This Up the author invites both emerging educational leaders and practicing school administrators to read a series of short stories recounted by principals and vice principals employed in schools across the United States in Germany and Cyprus. This collection of present day stories highlights the types of challenges school leaders encounter on a daily basis, all of which demand informed decisions but none of which are easily resolved. Each story is presented in a case study format and aligned with selected elements within one of the ten Professional Standards for Educational Leadership (PSEL). At a critical juncture in each case, a series of questions to ponder is presented, followed by a segment describing what actually occurred.

Climbing the Himalayas of School Leadership Carol A. Mullen, 2004-05-03 Here Carol Mullen uncovers vital information about the needs of the nation's schools that can be reflected in program content and policy reform. She contends that in today's education climate, there exists an urgent call for university faculty to take responsibility for reforming university preparation programs. Otherwise, the least effective of these programs could be eliminated, as has already occurred in North Carolina. This book should help principal preparation programs that are behind the times to move forward. Such programs can thus be expected to be aligned not only with the expectations of universities, policymaking bodies, and the public, but also with school districts and practicing school leaders.

The New Instructional Leadership Rose Ylimaki, 2013-10-23 Co-published with UCEA, this exciting new textbook is the first to tackle the ISLLC Standard 2: Instructional Leadership. In light of recent curriculum reforms, accountability policies, and changing demographics, today's leaders must not only have expertise in culture building and supervision skills, but also in adult learning, cultural funds of knowledge, curriculum, and the role of politics. The New Instructional Leadership helps aspiring school leaders examine their beliefs and practices about instructional leadership in relation to ISLLC Standard 2 and provides the theory, learning experiences, and analytical tools for effective leadership in today's world. Chapters cover issues of collaboration, curricular programming, motivation, supervision, accountability, capacity building, use of technology, monitoring, and evaluation. Special Features: Case Studies encourage readers to reflect and actively engage with instructional leadership beliefs and practices. Fieldwork and Extended Reflections: a range of inquiry activities provide students with opportunities to consider problems of practice related to the standard. Strategies for Leaders offers students practical and accessible ideas in order to transform their practice to address the complex challenges facing contemporary schools. Theoretically grounded and research-based, this unique volume will help aspiring and current leaders to understand instructional leadership and help them to sustain strong curricular and instructional programs in their increasingly diverse schools and communities.
