Gregory Mankiw David R. Hakes,2004 Study Guide for Use with Principles of Microeconomics, Third Canadian Edition Shahram Manouchehri,Peter Fortura,2006 The Case for a Carbon Tax Shi-Ling Hsu,2012-06-22 There is a simple straightforward way to cut carbon emissions and prevent the most disastrous effects of climate change and we're rejecting it because of irrational political fears That is the central argument of The Case for a Carbon Tax a clear-eyed sophisticated analysis of climate change policy Shi Ling Hsu examines the four major approaches to curbing CO<sub>2</sub> cap and trade command and control regulation government subsidies of alternative energy and carbon taxes Weighing the economic social administrative and political merits of each he demonstrates why a tax is currently the most effective policy Hsu does not claim that a tax is the perfect or only solution but that unlike the alternatives it can be implemented immediately and paired effectively with other approaches In fact the only real barrier is psychological While politicians can present subsidies and cap and trade as win-win solutions the costs of a tax are immediately apparent Hsu deftly explores the social and political factors that prevent us from embracing this commonsense approach And he shows why we must get past our hang-ups if we are to avert a global crisis The Property Species Bart J. Rich Country, Poor Country Benjamin F. Bobo, 2005-04-30 In this series of essays that span over 20 years of research Benjamin Bobo builds the case for multinational corporations to take an active role in combating poverty around the world Citing sobering statistics for example three fourths of the world's nations are classified as Third World and four fifths of the world's people live in these nations Bobo argues that huge corporate entities not only have the wherewithal but an obligation to alleviate the suffering that results from a lack of economic resources and opportunity Through these provocative and forward looking essays he presents a theoretical and practical framework for multinationals to stimulate economic development in the Third World providing access to capital entrepreneurial expertise and emerging technologies In a bold challenge to conventional thinking about wealth creation and strategic decision making Bobo applies such concepts as profit satisficing and stakeholder givebacks and proposes an agenda for change that begins in business schools the intellectual training ground for multinational managers with increased emphasis on sustainability and human development The net result he argues will be a world in which both producers and consumers benefit
