Convening Black Intimacy Natasha Erlank,2022-11-08 An unprecedented study of how Christianity reshaped Black South Africans ideas about gender sexuality marriage and family during the first half of the twentieth century This book demonstrates that the primary affective force in the construction of modern Black intimate life in early twentieth century South Africa was not the commonly cited influx of migrant workers but rather the spread of Christianity During the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries African converts developed a new conception of intimate life one that shaped ideas about sexuality gender roles and morality Although the reshaping of Black intimacy occurred first among educated Africans who aspired to middle class status by the 1950s it included all Black Christians 60 percent of the Black South African population In turn certain Black traditions and customs were central to the acceptance of sexual modernity which gained traction because it included practices such as lobola in which a bridegroom demonstrates his gratitude by transferring property to his bride s family While the ways of understanding intimacy that Christianity informed enjoyed broad appeal because they partially aligned with traditional ways other individuals were drawn to how the new ideas broke with tradition In either case Natasha Erlank argues that what Black South Africans regard today as tradition has been unequivocally altered by Christianity In asserting the paramount influence of Christianity on unfolding ideas about family gender and marriage in Black South Africa Erlank challenges social historians who have attributed the key factor to be the migrant labor system Erlank draws from a wide range of sources including popular Black literature and the Black press African church and mission archives and records of the South African law courts which she argues have been underutilized in histories of South Africa The book is sure to attract historians and other scholars interested in the history of African Christianity African families sexuality and the social history of law especially colonial law

Children in South African Families Nene Ernest Khalema, Monde Makiwane, Mzikazi Nduna, 2016-09-23 This book presents a comprehensive overview of African children s lives in times of transition transformation and change some twenty two years after political emancipation in South Africa With diverse family formations non marital childbearing and diverse parenting situations prevalent in South Africa the book covers both the conceptual and theoretical questions that explore the context of children s experiences It uses examples from a range of primary and secondary data sources to illustrate how resilience in children faced with adversity could be nurtured demonstrating the links between theory and practice and critically commenting on questions of epistemology by drawing on research with children within different African social and cultural contexts While the volume affirms the complexities of explaining child adversity or privilege it stresses the diversity of South African children s experiences and the importance of adopting both children s rights and Afro centric perspectives to account for the commonality and diversity of childhood and children s empowerment in diverse family systems The contributions also provide recommendations on how to respond and intervene in children s issues from both practical and policy levels in a dedicated manner to ensure that children are protected from harm nurtured to succeed and assisted during and after traumatic experiences This volume represents a valuable resource for scholars and students in the fields of humanities social science development studies and public health as well as policy makers child practitioners and child rights advocates

"The" Athenaeum ,1889 Christianity Without the Cross Thomas A. Fudge, 2003 Grounded in primary source research this boldly revisionist book examines the doctrine of salvation in Oneness Pentecostalism United Pentecostal Church from its origins through its several developmental stages The gradual rise of a literal interpretation of Acts 2:38 eliminated a tradition of doctrinal diversity within Oneness thought which regarded salvation as occurring at repentance prior to water and Spirit baptism. With this development a main link to the wider stream of evangelical Christianity was severed. The water and Spirit theology resulted in a form of Christianity which does not necessarily require the cross in any meaningful sense for salvation. This study recovers the lost theological tradition associated with important figures such as Howard A. Goss, A. D. Gurley, W. M. Greer, C. H. Tadon, Wynn T. Stairs, Earl Jacques, E. P. Wickens, John Paterson, and the Pentecostal Church Incorporated. Combining traditional historical methodology and theological research with the principles of a broadly based oral history, this study argues for a theological diversity within the history of Oneness Pentecostalism and in so doing bridges an important gap in the history and theology of the United Pentecostal Church.

A.U.M.L.A., 1999 Ring Shout, Wheel About Katrina Dyonne Thompson, 2014-01-30. In this ambitious project, historian Katrina Thompson examines the conceptualization and staging of race through the performance, sometimes coerced, of black dance from the slave ship to the minstrel stage. Drawing on a rich variety of sources, Thompson explicates how black musical performance was used by white Europeans and Americans to justify enslavement, perpetuate the existing racial hierarchy, and mask the brutality of the domestic slave trade. Whether on slave ships at the auction block or on plantations, whites often used coerced performances to oppress and demean the enslaved. As Thompson shows, however, blacks' backstage use of musical performance often served quite a different purpose. Through creolization and other means, enslaved people preserved some native musical and dance traditions and invented or adopted new traditions that built community and even aided rebellion. Thompson shows how these traditions evolved into nineteenth-century minstrelsy and ultimately raises the question of whether today's mass media performances and depictions of African Americans are so very far removed from their troublesome roots.

Saturday Review, 1879

A South African Bibliography to the Year 1925 Sidney Mendelssohn, South African Public Library, 1979. In 1979, a South African bibliography to the year 1925, SABIB, compiled under the auspices of the South African Library, was published in four volumes by Mansell of London. It was essentially a revision and continuation of Sidney Mendelssohn's South African bibliography, London 1910, which recorded literature about South Africa from earliest times to 1909, regardless of place of publication. For the new bibliography, the period was extended to 1925, but for practical reasons, the scope was limited to the geographical area south of the Limpopo, and certain material, for example, books in African languages, sheet music, maps, and periodicals, was excluded.
