Megachange The World In 2050:

Megachange Daniel Franklin, D. Franklin, John Andrews, 2012-03-27 Megatrends are great forces in societal development that have profound impacts on states markets and civil society in the now and for the years to come They can effectively be employed as a starting point for analyzing our world Megachange The World in 2050 looks at these sweeping fundamental trends that are changing the world faster than at any time in human history Including chapters on approximately twenty of these megatrends each elegantly outlined by contributors from The Economist and rich in supporting facts and graphics the book is a compelling read as well as a valuable research and reference tool Groups the megatrends that are shaping our world into several categories People Life and Death Economy and Business and Knowledge Each trend is covered in a concise but detailed chapter written by an expert from The Economist Edited by Daniel Franklin Executive Editor of The Economist Packed with important information about the forces that shape our world Megachange is a fascinating new look to the future from the experts at The Economist Publisher's website The Economist: Megachange The Economist, 2012-03-22 In 2050 there will be 9.3 billion people alive compared with 7 billion today and the number will still be rising The population aged over sixty five will have more than doubled to more than 16 per cent China's GDP will be 80 per cent more than America's and the number of cars on India's roads will have increased by 3880 per cent And in 2050 it should be clear whether we are alone in the universe What other megachanges can we expect and what will their impact be This comprehensive and compelling book will cover the most significant trends that are shaping the coming decades with each of its twenty chapters elegantly and authoritatively outlined by Economist contributors and rich in supporting facts and figures It will chart the rise and fall of fertility rates across continents how energy resources will change in light of new technology and how different nations will deal with major developments in science and warfare Megachange is essential reading for anyone who wants to know what the next four decades hold in store Towards a Better Global Economy Franklin Allen, Jere Richard Behrman, Nancy Birdsall, Shahrokh Fardoust, Dani Rodrik, Andrew D. Steer, Arvind Subramanian, 2014 Substantial progress in the fight against extreme poverty was made in the last two decades But the slowdown in global economic growth and significant increases in income inequality in many developed and developing countries raise serious concerns about the continuation of this trend into the 21st century The time has come to seriously think about how improvements in official global governance coupled with and reinforced by rising activism of global citizens can lead to welfare enhancing and more equitable results for global citizens through better national and international policies This book examines the factors that are most likely to facilitate the process of beneficial economic growth in low middle and high income countries It examines past present and future economic growth demographic changes the hyperglobalization of trade the effect of finance on growth climate change and resource depletion and the sense of global citizenship and the need for global governance in order to draw longer term implications identify policy options for improving the lives of average citizens around the world and make the case for the need to confront new challenges with truly global policy responses The book documents how demographic changes convergence and competition are likely to bring about massive shifts in the sectoral and geographical composition of global output and employment as the center of gravity of the global economy moves toward Asia and emerging economies elsewhere It shows that the legacies of the 2008 09 crisis high unemployment levels massive excess capacities and high debt levels are likely to reduce the standard of living of millions of people in many countries over a long period of adjustment and that fluctuations in international trade financial markets and commodity prices as well as the tendency of institutions at both the national and international level to favor the interests of the better off and more powerful pose substantial risks for citizens of all countries The chapters and their policy implications are intended to stimulate public interest and facilitate the exchange of ideas and policy dialogue
