Michael Newman, 2005. The Place of the Audience Mark Jancovich, Lucy Faire, Sarah Stubbings, 2003-04-28. It has been a recurring complaint both within and against film studies that it has largely ignored the activities of audiences. This book aims to address this absence as compared to television studies and to explain its cause. The authors argue that there is a social context in which the consumption of film can be understood or studied historically, demonstrating that a concentration on the place of film consumption within the changing cultural politics of the city can offer a compelling and productive focus of analysis. This book examines not only the different meanings of different sites of film exhibition and distribution: city centre cinemas, local cinemas, art house cinemas, multiplexes, terrestrial television, transmission, video rental and retail, and satellite cable, but also the meanings of the activities of film consumption associated with these sites. Through use of archival materials and ethnographic studies of the audience, the book examines the meanings of film consumption from the earliest film showings up to the 21st century. Quality Popular Television Mark Jancovich, James Lyons, 2003. No Marketing Blurb.

Blind Spots and Sight Lines Maureen Elizabeth Lauder, 2009. Crisis and Capitalism in Contemporary Argentine Cinema Joanna Page, 2009-05-22. This first in-depth English language study of Argentine fiction films released since the mid-1990s explains how they have registered Argentina's recent experience of capitalism, neoliberalism, and economic crisis.

Caught in Play Peter Stromberg, 2009-05-28. Caught in Play reveals that though we engage stories, games, and images for fun, it does not follow that entertainment is trivial in its effect on our lives. Visual Authorship Torben Kragh Grodal, Bente Larsen, Iben Thorving Laursen, 2005. Visual Authorship is a collection of essays which offers a new approach to the study of authorship. The contributors point out that individual creativity is essential in the richly faceted media landscape of today. The individual creativity and the role of authorship are discussed in relation to film, television, computer games, and the Internet. Theories of cognition and emotion offer new tools for the understanding of visual aesthetics; they explain why works of art are created by individuals and not by discourses and ideologies. Several contributors analyse in detail the works of Lars von Trier.
