New American Strategies For Security And Peace:

America's Strategy in a Changing World Sean M. Lynn-Jones, Steven E. Miller, 1992 Del 1 America's Strategic options in a Changing Security Environment Del 2 Dimensions of U S Strategy after the Cold War New American Strategies for Security and Peace Zbigniew Brzezinski, 2003 The Oxford Handbook of Grand Strategy Thierry Balzacq, Ronald R. Krebs, 2021 The Oxford Handbook of Grand Strategy addresses the conceptual and historical foundations production evolution and future of grand strategy from a wide range of standpoints The Art of Peace Juliana Geran Pilon, 2017-07-05 Sun Tzu author of The Art of War believed that the acme of leadership consists in figuring out how to subdue the enemy with the least amount of fighting a fact that America's Founders also understood and practiced with astonishing success For it to work however a people must possess both the ability and the willingness to use all available instruments of power in peace as much as in war US foreign policy has increasingly neglected the instruments of civilian power and become overly dependent on lethal solutions to conflict The steep rise in unconventional conflict has increased the need for diplomatic and other non hard power tools of statecraft The United States can no longer afford to sit on the proverbial three legged national security stool military diplomacy development where one leg is a lot longer than either of the other two almost forgetting altogether the fourth leg information especially strategic communication and public diplomacy The United States isn't so much becoming militarized as de-civilianized According to Sun Tzu self knowledge is as important as knowledge of one's enemy if you know neither yourself nor the enemy you will succumb in every battle Alarminglly the United States is deficient on both counts And though we can stand to lose a few battles the stakes of losing the war itself in this age of nuclear proliferation are too high to contemplate America's Strategic Choices, revised edition Michael E. Brown, Owen R. Cote, Jr., Sean M. Lynn-Jones, Steven E. Miller, 2000-07-18 Contending perspectives on the future of US grand strategy More than a decade has passed since the end of the Cold War but the United States has yet to reach a consensus on a coherent approach to the international use of American power The essays in this volume present contending perspectives on the future of U S grand strategy U S policy options include primacy cooperative security selective engagement and retrenchment This revised edition includes additional and more recent analysis and advocacy of these options The volume includes the Clinton administration's National Security Strategy for a New Century the most recent official statement of American grand strategy so readers can compare proposed strategies with the official U S government position Where the Evidence Leads Robert C. Johansen, 2021-10-19 Where the Evidence Leads develops a new theory of empirical realism to enable the United States to respond more effectively to rising security threats than do present policies It shows that more US security benefits are likely to result from maximizing the causes or correlates of peace than from maximizing US military power the usual recommendation of US policymakers and political realists Ironically a global grand strategy for human security with US national security folded into it is likely to produce more security for the United States than a national security policy pursued

as an end in itself Global human security policies can achieve sustainable peace in contexts where a national grand strategy for US security often fails North American Homeland Security Imtiaz Hussain, Satya R. Pattanayak, Anil Hira, 2008-10-30 Did 9 11 revive a North American guns butter trade off Established in the largest administrative overhaul since World War II the Department of Homeland Security was charged with keeping the United States safe within a wider security community but confronted the Washington Consensus based Western Hemisphere free trade movement beginning with the North American Free Trade Agreement NAFTA and extending to the Central American Free Trade Agreement CAFTA in 2003 to materialize a Free Trade Area of the Americas FTAA compact Whether 9 11 restrictions impeded these trade related thrusts or not embracing neoliberalism permitted Canada and Mexico to pursue their own initiatives such as proposing free trade to the US Canada in 1985 Mexico in 1990 but as during the Cold War security imperatives ultimately prevailed This work investigates Canada s and Mexico s Department of Homeland Security responses through three bilateral studies of policy responses along comparative lines case studies of security and intelligence apparatuses in each of the three countries and a post 9 11 trilateral assessment Ultimately they raise a broader and more critical North American question Will regional economic integration continue to be trumped by security considerations as during the Cold War era and thereby elevate second best outcomes or rise above the constraints to reassert the unquenchable post Cold War thirst for unfettered markets replete with private enterprises liberal policies and full fledged competitiveness Preventive Engagement Paul B. Stares, 2017-12-19 The United States faces an increasingly turbulent world The risk of violent conflict and other threats to international order presents a vexing dilemma should the United States remain the principal guarantor of global peace and security with all its considerable commitments and potential pitfalls not least new and costly military entanglements that over time diminish its capacity and commitment to play this vital role or alternatively should it pull back from the world in the interests of conserving U S power but at the possible cost of even greater threats emerging in the future Paul B Stares proposes an innovative and timely strategy preventive engagement to resolve America s predicament This approach entails pursuing three complementary courses of action promoting policies known to lessen the risk of violent conflict over the long term anticipating and averting those crises likely to lead to costly military commitments in the medium term and managing ongoing conflicts in the short term before they escalate further and exert pressure on the United States to intervene In each of these efforts forging preventive partnerships with a variety of international actors including the United Nations regional organizations nongovernmental organizations and the business community is essential The need to think and act ahead that lies at the heart of a preventive engagement strategy requires the United States to become less shortsighted and reactive Drawing on successful strategies in other areas Preventive Engagement provides a detailed and comprehensive blueprint for the United States to shape the future and reduce the potential dangers ahead The United Nations, Peace, and Security ,1983 Air University Library Index to Military Periodicals ,1995 Peace Resource Book ,1988 The Geography of the Peace Nicholas John Spykman,1944 Planning War, Pursuing Peace Paul A. C. Koistinen,1998 The third volume in a magisterial five volume study of the political economy of American warfare The Will to Believe Ross A. Kennedy,2009 Wilson and his contemporaries engaged in a wide ranging debate about the fundamental character of American national security in the modern world This book examines that debate in full It offers detailed analysis of how US political leaders and opinion makers conceptualized and pursued national security from 1914 to 1920 New Russo-American Strategic Partnership and Korean National Strategy Hyōn-ik Hong,2004 American Thinking about Peace and War Ken Booth,Moorhead Wirght,1978-07 No descriptive material is available for this title Contemporary Security and Strategy Craig A. Snyder,2008-01-15 A comprehensive and authoritative text on Security and Strategy in the 21st century Monthly Bulletin San Francisco Public Library,1919 Defense White Paper ,1990 The Far Eastern Review, Engineering, Finance, Commerce ,1916
