The Development of Children's Memory Lynne E. Baker-Ward, David F. Bjorklund, Jennifer L. Coffman, 2021-06-10 In this introduction to The Development of Children's Memory The Scientific Contributions of Peter A Ornstein we provide biographical information for Professor Ornstein and identify some contextual influences on his work We then examine the four distinct but interrelated programs of research he conducted that form the structure for this volume Next we briefly describe the chapters that are included in the review of each research program and introduce the authors Ornstein's scientific development over his 50 years in research is depicted as moving from the study of age related changes in memory performance to an increasing emphasis on the developmental processes that result in skilled remembering in children This transition both reflected and contributed to the emergence of a developmental science of memory Over a century of memory research has swung between the two poles of the mechanistic model of Ebbinghaus and the adaptive sociocultural and organismic view of Bartlett both of which were necessary but neither of which was essentially developmental The Ornstein

lab has over the last half century with experimental rigor explored how growing children use memory adaptively in meaningful contexts From the transitional era of verbal learning in the 1950s to the cognitive revolution of the information processing period in the 1980s models of memory focused on the development of the deployment and control of strategic processes of remembering models that despite their modern sophistication owe something to Ebbinghaus But children grow up embedded in cultural structures of meanings ranging from the doctor s office to the courtroom aided or hindered by the people in them intent on helping growing children to use memory adaptively within those cultural narratives A Syllabus and Bibliography of Child Study Charles Wilkin Waddell,William Thomas Root,1915 Psychological Abstracts Walter Samuel Hunter,1929 Personality and Social Adjustment Ernest Rutherford Groves,1923 The Feeling of Risk Paul Slovic,2013-03-07 The Feeling of Risk brings together the work of Paul Slovic one of the world s leading analysts of risk to describe the extension of risk perception research into the first decade of this new century In this collection of important works Paul Slovic explores the conception of risk as feelings and examines the interaction of feeling and cognition in the perception of risk He also examines the elements of knowledge cognitive skill and communication necessary for good decisions in the face of risk The first section of the book looks at the difficulty of understanding risk without an emotional component for example that disaster statistics lack emotion and thus fail to convey the true meaning of disasters and fail to motivate proper action to prevent them The book also highlights other important perspectives on risk arising from cultural worldviews and concerns about specific hazards pertaining to blood transfusion biotechnology prescription drugs smoking terrorism and nanotechnology Following on from The Perception of Risk 2000 this book presents some of the most significant research on risk perception in recent years providing essential lessons for all those involved in risk perception and communication Psychology Charles G.
