Drama of Democracy Lisa Björkman,2025-09-02 The performative arts of political communication and representation in Mumbai In an era of global political passions many have wondered whether some sort of natural affinity exists between political style and substance Does liberal democracy speak the language of rationality and sincerity while political emotion imagery and embodiment properly belong to authoritarianism Taking an ethnographic approach to the relationship between political form and political content Drama of Democracy explores the material substance of representations things like heady crowds and rousing images together with language based forms of political communication such as public oration and community meetings Drawing on a decade of research in the city of Mumbai Lisa Björkman shows that embodied performance is the very site and substance of representation and demonstrates how Mumbaikars evaluate performative bids to represent The ethnographic accounts demonstrate the extraordinary fluency in this evaluative work in Mumbai where people from all walks of life are remarkably astute at navigating and assessing political signs and representations endlessly discussing and debating possible meanings of the city's dense material semiotic ecologies whether words or images cash or crowds flyers or flowers In Mumbai Björkman argues the evaluative criterion of representation is not whether something is sign or substance or even whether people are deemed to utter truths or falsehoods Rather what matters is whether and how a performance activates and actuates the social relations and political subjectivities that it professes to display Drama of Democracy highlights Mumbaikars communicative fluency and theatrical acumen to offer a conceptual toolbox through which contemporary political churning around the globe might be understood
