rubber injection moulding Many injection moulding processes produce rejects or scrap because they depend on a b257 of variables To eliminate waste it is necessary to learn how to recognise the variables that cause problems and then experiment to understand their interdependence This can be developed to a fine art and lead towards right first time processing the commercial ideal An additional indexed section containing several hundred abstracts from the Rapra Polymer Library database gives useful references for further reading Adhesion and Bonding to Polyolefins D. M. Brewis,I. Mathieson,2002 Polyolefins have many and varied applications However they have very poor bonding properties This review discusses ways of improving adhesion and bonding It describes the theories surrounding adhesion of polyolefins and the analysis techniques which have been used to characterise the material surfaces Methods of enhancing adhesion are then discussed An additional indexed section containing several hundred abstracts from the Polymer Library gives useful references for further reading The Proceedings of International Seminar of Polymer Science and Technology ,1994 Chemical Characterisation of Polyurethanes M. J. Forrest,1999 This review aims to introduce the chemistry of polyurethanes and to examine the different techniques which may be used to analyse these polymers The characterisation of polyurethane starting materials cure reaction polymer structures and molecular c099 and additives and their relationship to the final properties of the polymer are all outlined An additional indexed section containing several hundred abstracts from the Rapra Polymer Library database gives useful references for further reading The Rubber Age ,1975 Current Serials Received British Library.
