Fyffe,2015-06-13 With education and work being two chief and influential elements in modern society it is important to understand and explore their purpose contributions and how they are impacted by other factors such as gender It is the task of Philosophy to investigate these all important questions as it is a field of study in which people question and create theories about the nature of reality Philosophers concern themselves with more than just the fundamental and mysterious topics as whether or not God s exist The fundamental method of western philosophy is the use of reasoning to evaluate arguments As such this book takes a philosophical approach to examining these areas by including arguments from philosophers such as Plato Aristotle Augustine Thomas Aquinas John Dewey Soren Aabye Kierkegaard and Jean Paul Sartre who have all explored the topic of education and work

Integrating Work in Theological Education Kathleen A. Cahalan,Edward Foley,Gordon S. Mikoski,2017-03-09 If only we could do a better job of helping students at connecting the dots theological educators commonly lament Integration often proposed as a solution to the woes of professional education for ministry would help students integrate knowledge skills spirituality and integrity When these remain disconnected incompetence ensues and the cost runs high for churches denominations and ministers themselves However we fail in thinking that integrating work is for students alone It is a multifaceted constructive process of learning that is contextual reflective and dialogical It aims toward important ends competent leaders who can guide Christian communities today It entails rhythms not stages and dynamic movement including disintegration Integrating work is learning in motion across domains and among and between persons It is social and communal born of a life of learning together for faculty staff administrators and students It is work that bridges the long standing gaps between school ministry practice and life It s a verb not a noun Here a diverse group of theological educators through descriptive case studies theological reflection and theory building offer a distinctive contribution to understanding integrating work and how best to achieve it across three domains in community curriculums and courses
