In chemistry, a dissolution or solution is a homogeneous mixture, at a molecular level, of one or more chemical species that do not react with each other, with components present in varying proportions within certain limits.

Every solution or dissolution is composed of a dispersed phase called the solute and a dispersing medium known as the solvent. The solvent is also defined as the substance present in greater quantity than the solute in the solution.

Additionally, many universities and educational institutions have their own digital libraries that provide free access to PDF books and manuals. These libraries often offer academic texts, research papers, and technical manuals, making them invaluable resources for students and researchers.
