Business Process Management Wil M.P. van der Aalst, Boualem Benatallah, Fabio Casati, Francisco Curbera, 2005-08-18
This volume contains the proceedings of the 3rd International Conference on Business Process Management BPM 2005 organized by LORIA in Nancy France September 5 8 2005 This year BPM included several innovations with respect to previous editions most notably the addition of an industrial program and of co located workshops This was the logical result of the significant and still growing industrial interest in the area and of the broadening of the research communities working on BPM topics The interest in business process management and in the BPM conference was demonstrated by the quantity and quality of the paper submissions We received over 176 contributions from 31 countries accepting 25 of them as full papers 20 research papers and 5 industrial papers while 17 contributions were accepted as short papers In addition to the regular industry and short presentations invited lectures were given by Frank Leymann and Gustavo Alonso This combination of research papers industrial papers keynotes and workshops all of very high quality has shown that BPM has become a mature conference and the main venue for researchers and practitioners in this area We would like to thank the members of the Program Committee and the reviewers for their efforts in selecting the papers They helped us compile an excellent scientific program For the difficult task of selecting the 25 best papers 14% acceptance rate and 17 short papers each paper was reviewed by at least three reviewers except some out of scope papers

Real-time and Autonomous Systems 2022 Herwig Unger, Marcel Schaible, 2023-05-16 This book contains the results of the researchers presented at this conference which is supported by German Society of informatics GI and other organisations Real Time Systems Expert Committees The 43rd Real Time Systems conference on Automation in Everyday Life is addressing an increasingly important topic in a world that is becoming more and more networked The solutions presented here range from hardware to system design to individual applications The target audience is students and researchers in computer science and automation technology partly electrical engineering engineers programmers and users of automation and communication systems ACM Transactions on Computational Logic, 2010

Formal Methods for Components and Objects Frank S. de Boer, Marcello M. Bonsangue, Susanne Graf, Willem-Paul de Roever, 2004-11-08 Formal methods have been applied successfully to the verification of medium sized programs in protocol and hardware design However their application to more complex systems resulting from the object oriented and the more recent component based software engineering paradigms requires further development of specification and verification techniques supporting the concepts of reusability and modifiability This book presents revised tutorial lectures given by invited speakers at the Second International Symposium on Formal Methods for Components and Objects FMCO 2003 held in Leiden The Netherlands in November 2003 The 17 revised lectures by leading researchers present a comprehensive account of the potential of formal methods applied to large and complex software systems such as component based systems and object systems The book makes a unique contribution to bridging the gap
