Introduction to Transrational Thinking

Abstract: Transrational Thinking is a combination of the rational-analytical power of thinking and the intuitive-accessive side of our mind that is not analytical but rather synthetic in character. Transrational Thinking directly taps into reality (Hypernoesis). It can access the totality of information in Hypernoesis directly without the need to acquire knowledge or information first.

The interesting thing for me - as a philosopher - is to find and develop a new way of thinking that is able to go beyond itself and tap into the universal pool of information in a rational way. We know that a higher form of consciousness or intuition can accomplish this. But can thought accomplish this best? Is it possible to think and talk about any subject as if I knew everything? Isn't that blasphemy in the case of religion?

It's a natural and logical conclusion from my philosophy that every human being is capable of tapping into the totality of reality, or what I call Hypernoesis. We are not separated from Reality. We are connected and interrelated with everything else in the universal. In the light of these assumptions, doesn't it make sense to claim that our mind and in particular thinking is potentially capable of accessing any information in the universal?

I call this non-conceptual thinking that allows access to any information in the universe Transrational Thinking or Para-noesis. This higher form of thinking exists latently in us because it shines through from time to time in the greatest thinkers of humanity. There is also some more physical evidence of its existence in the latest results of psychic research that demonstrates the existence of a faculty in our mind that is capable of accessing information that is not locally stored (in memory) or acquired by any traditional means (learning, experience, etc.). This faculty is commonly referred to as telepathy, remote viewing, clairvoyance, etc.

Transrational Thinking and Intuition

The concept of Para-noesis (Transrational Thinking), as I developed it, ought not to be confused with intuition as generally understood (hunch, premonition, "gut" feeling, etc.). This is what could be called "rational" intuition. The one I'm interested in is known in philosophy as "intellectual intuition" (see Spinoza, Schelling, Hegel, and others). It is a way of thinking (not feeling), on a higher level and usually leads to insights, understanding, and a more comprehensive, holistic knowledge.

I'm actually taking the concept of intellectual intuition a step further by claiming that Para-noesis is able to access any information in the universe without the need to acquire knowledge through traditional means, such as learning or reading. However, Para-noesis is not a part of our mind that we naturally possess in full-fledged form. It is latent and needs to be developed.

Most of us have experienced what we popularly call "intuition" in one way or another before. It is this "inner voice" which tells us what to do or gives us the right answer to our questions or just pops up in our mind (hunches). We usually ignore that intuition or don't care too much about it.

S.L. Frank Philip Boobbyer, 1995 There are many reasons for writing a biography of Semyon Frank Quite apart from his philosophy he lived a remarkable life Born in Moscow in 1877 he was exiled from Soviet Russia in 1922 and died in London in 1950 The son of a Jewish doctor he became a revolutionary Social Democrat in his teens and finished his life as a Neoplatonist Christian One of the Russian revisionist Marxists he was then involved in the Kadet Party during the 1905 revolution before breaking with active political activity and turning to philosophy He lived in Petrograd through the First World War until September 1917 after which he went to Saratov where he experienced the chaos of the Russian Civil War Living in Germany after his exile he witnessed the rise of Hitler in Berlin left for France in a hurry in 1937 and spent part of the war hiding from the Gestapo in the Grenoble mountains It was a life that encompassed a lot of history Yet along with this Frank was arguably Russia's greatest twentieth century philosopher Indeed V V Zenkovskii the historian of Russian philosophy considered Frank in strength of philosophic vision the most outstanding among Russian philosophers generally not merely among those who share his ideas For its lucidity conciseness systematic character and unity Zenkovskii considered Frank's system the highest achievement of Russian philosophy Doubtless Zenkovskii's assessment is disputable but his remarks emphasize Frank's stature in the Russian tradition In the style of German idealism Frank constructed a comprehensive philosophical system which he believed offered a coherent alternative to materialism He was deeply worried by the implications of epistemological relativism and constructed a system of metaphysics designed to link epistemology and ontology to bridge the gulf between thought and being In addition he attempted to express the idea of a personal God in philosophical language His system also embraced social philosophy anthropology and ethics from the Introduction by the author Hermann Cohen's Kantian Philosophy of Religion Ketil Bonaunet, 2004 This study examines the influence of Kant on Hermann Cohen's philosophy of religion A basic tenet in Kantian philosophy of religion is that morality leads ineluctably to religion But how does morality lead to religion While Cohen rejected Kant's doctrine of the postulates of the existence of God and the immortality of the soul as it is formulated in Kritik der praktischen Vernunft he searched for alternative ways to found a religion of reason in ethics This book concentrates on two routes from ethics to religion that are central to Cohen's philosophy of religion in his two last works Der Begriff der Religion im System der Philosophie 1915 and Religion der Vernunft aus den Quellen des Judentums posthumous 1919 One route takes compassion towards the concrete Other which is complementary to an ethics of universal respect as its point of departure and argues that an attitude of compassion and recognition of the Other as a genuine individual presupposes a distinctive religious consciousness The other route is inspired by Kant's wrestling with the problem of removal of moral guilt in Religion innerhalb der Grenzen der blossen Vernunft and centres around the questions of guilt and liberation from guilt Cohen's ideas and their continued relevance are explored in this book in light of some major concerns of twentieth century and contemporary philosophy of religion The Other
