Adaptive Sampling Steven K. Thompson, George A. F. Seber, 1996-06-07 Offering a viable solution to the long standing problem of estimating the abundance of rare clustered populations adaptive sampling designs are rapidly gaining prominence in the natural and social sciences as well as in other fields with inherently difficult sampling situations In marked contrast to conventional sampling designs in which the entire sample of units to be observed is fixed prior to the survey adaptive sampling strategies allow for increased sampling intensity depending upon observations made during the survey For example in a survey to assess the abundance of a rare animal species neighboring sites may be added to the sample whenever the species is encountered during the survey In an epidemiological survey of a contagious or genetically linked disease sampling intensity may be increased whenever prevalence of the disease is encountered Written by two acknowledged experts in this emerging field this book offers researchers their first comprehensive introduction to adaptive sampling An ideal reference for statisticians conducting research in survey designs and spatial statistics as well as researchers working in the environmental ecological public health and biomedical sciences Adaptive Sampling Provides a comprehensive fully integrated introduction to adaptive sampling theory and practice Describes recent research findings Introduces readers to a wide range of adaptive sampling strategies and techniques Includes numerous real world examples from environmental pollution studies surveys of rare animal and plant species studies of contagious diseases marketing surveys mineral and fossil fuel assessments and more

Sample Survey Theory Paul Kottnerus, 2012-11-12 This volume deals primarily with the classical question of how to draw conclusions about the population mean of a variable given a sample with observations on that variable Another classical question is how to use prior knowledge of an economic or definitional relationship between the population means of several variables provided that the variables are observed in a sample The present volume is a compilation of two discussion papers and some additional notes on these two basic questions The discussion papers and notes were prepared for a 15 hour course at Statistics Netherlands in Voorburg in February 2000 The first discussion paper is entitled A Memoir on Sampling and  $\rho$  the Generalized Intrasample Correlation Coefficient 1999 It describes a new approach to the problem of unequal probability sampling The second discussion paper The General Restriction Estimator 2000 deals with the problem of how to find constrained estimators that obey a given set of restrictions imposed on the parameters to be estimated Parts I and II of the volume provide a novel and systematic treatment of sampling theory considered from the angle of the sampling autocorrelation coefficient  $\rho$  The same concept plays an important role in the analysis of time series Although this concept is also well known in sampling theory for instance in cluster sampling and systematic sampling generalizations of  $\rho$  for an arbitrary sampling design are to my knowledge not readily found in the literature
