

Alligators

Scientists have conducted experiments on many different animals to determine whether there are any relationships between body size and metabolic rate. They use a variety of different experimental techniques to measure metabolic rate. One technique is to measure the amount of oxygen that an animal uses over a period of time. This is done by measuring the volume of oxygen that is inhaled and exhaled. The amount of oxygen that is inhaled and exhaled is proportional to the metabolic rate of the animal.

Scientists have also conducted experiments on alligators to determine whether there are any relationships between body size and metabolic rate. They measured the metabolic rate of alligators of different sizes by measuring the amount of oxygen that they inhaled and exhaled. They found that the metabolic rate of alligators is proportional to their body size.
