Hall and Geert Hofstede Matthias Boeing,2013-05-27 Companies that do not adapt to the new global realities will become victims of those that do In this quote Theodor Levitt a former professor at the Harvard Business School points out that companies all over the world need to deal with a process which has changed the way they carry on a business in many ways The process namely globalisation takes advantages as well as disadvantages not only for the business world but also for the individual The importance to face globalisation has always been there but it has increased with the evolving stages of globalisation Ever since this process started companies have tried to derive advantage from globalisation while at the same time they had to deal with the disadvantages For marketers in particular this process seems to offer a lot of potential for the exploration of new markets and customers However the questions determining the success or failure of a marketing campaign are more complex than in domestic marketing Accordingly the terms international and global marketing are strongly connected to globalisation and have become a key factor for the success of companies Corporations that want belong to these successful multi national companies MNC or global players certainly have to deal with the different issues that come along with marketing products in other countries These can have a significant impact on international operations but also on the overall performance of a company Since a company s approach to these issues determines the success or failure in marketing a product abroad these situations have to be addressed at an early stage Among others cultural differences are one of the major obstacles that have to be considered in international marketing Every culture has its own individual values behaviours ways of thinking lifestyle and language which make it unique Accordingly companies have two different possibilities to deal with that process At first standardisation an identical

The development of an international marketing strategy for ZEVIA on the Soft-Drink market in Germany Viktoria Arnold,2016-11-15 Bachelor Thesis from the year 2016 in the subject Business economics Offline Marketing and Online Marketing grade 9 2 language English abstract This thesis represents an in depth market insight on the German beverage market for the American company Zevia Considering the theoretical background particularly focusing on the issue of standardization or adaptation of an international marketing strategy the author suggests in the event of entering the German market to especially adapt 3 out of the 4 marketing mix elements namely price promotion and place Special attention should be drawn to an alteration of Zevia s promotion and price policies However the German beverage market constitutes a tough external environment for the realization of a market penetration and awareness creation for Zevia s soft drink Overall the German market can be described as saturated diversified and one conferring high bargaining power to supermarkets All these factors represent an obstacle for Zevia to enter this market despite the German food and beverage industry being highly receptive to new and innovative products This openness derives from the trend detected in Germany and globally towards the increased request for health and wellness products However apparently despite this trend the German market for low calorie lemonades is declining and the perception of stevia as a sweetener is rather negative These facts have also been proven in a thesis intern online survey Zevia is recommended to only penetrate the German beverage market under specific circumstances named in this thesis while considering the author s proposals in reference to its marketing mix elements

Contingency Factors of Marketing-Mix Standardization Roxana Codita,2011-02-07 This study addresses the marketing mix standardization issue in the Central and Eastern European context Special consideration is given to the construct of product cultural specificity for which a new measure is proposed
