Mukesh Kumar,G.S. Paliwal,2011-07-15 India s phytodiversity is one of the most significant in the world India is one of the twelve mega biodiversity centers in the world and also an important center of origin of agrobiodiversity It is therefore very important to study document and conserve the plant wealth of India and also of the world before its possible extinction There are convincing scientific economic and sociological reasons for giving priority to the conservation of the major centers of plant diversity throughout the world The strategies to conserve the biodiversity include establishment of protected area network and corridors with emphasis on appropriate levels of management reduction of anthropogenic pressure on natural populations by cultivating them elsewhere programmes of augmentation reintroduction and introduction of target taxa restoration of degraded habitats etc The conservation strategies can be either in situ conservation of genetic resources within their ecosystem and natural habitat or ex situ conservation of components of genetic material of biological diversity outside their natural habitat The choice of conservation strategy depends upon the nature of the material to be conserved i e the life cycle and mode of reproduction size of individual population and ecological status Ex situ techniques include the establishment of botanical and zoological gardens banks of pollen seed tissue culture DNA etc Establishment of forest reserves national parks protected areas and on farm conservation of valuable plant varieties is being promoted to facilitate their in situ conservation
