Planets, Stars, and Orbs Edward Grant,1996-07-13 Edward Grant describes the extraordinary range of themes ideas and arguments that constituted scholastic cosmology for approximately five hundred years from around 1200 to 1700 Primary emphasis is placed on the world as a whole what might lie beyond it and the celestial region which extended from the Moon to the outermost convex surface of the cosmos The Borderlands of Science Alfred Taylor Schofield,1917 Bringing Life to the Stars David G. Duemler,1993 This book attempts to provide an ethical foundation with which to address the question Should we spread life beyond Earth It examines the material conditions of the solar system the limits of consciousness the limits of society and the long term possibilities of sending human life out into the universe The author delineates the ethical criteria of sentient life and considers justifications of space travel for the purpose of human expansion

Duemler gives special attention to the utilitarian explanation which concludes that if life did gnyad throughout the solar system or even the galaxy then this would serve to increase the amount of sentient life and if life in the new world is a balanced positive is therefore a positive event Three main issues drawing upon both science and philosophy fall at the center of the discussion supporting evidence not based on questionable dogma nor requiring huge intuitive leaps of faith it must square with natural selection and have biological plausibility and it must have inherent value not requiring underlying conditions for a judgement to pass
