Chapter 6 Twa Marginality And Indigenesness In Rwanda:

Indigenesness in Africa Felix Mukwiza Ndahinda, 2011-04-27 With a Foreword by Prof Asbjørn Eide a former Chairman of the UN Working Group on Indigenous Populations Chairman of the UN Working Group on Minorities President of the Advisory Committee on National Minorities of the Council of Europe Following the internationalization of the indigenous rights movement a growing number of African hunter gatherers pastoralists and other communities have channelled their claims for special legal protection through the global indigenous rights movement Their claims as the indigenous peoples of Africa are backed by many international actors such as indigenous rights activists donors and some academia However indigenous identification is contested by many African governments some members of non claimant communities and a number of anthropologists who have extensively interacted with claimant indigenous groups This book explores the sources as well as the legal and political implications of indigenous identification in Africa By highlighting the quasi inexistence of systematic and discursive rather than activist studies on the subject matter the analysis questions the appropriateness of this framework in efforts aimed at empowering claimant communities in inherently multiethnic African countries The book navigates between various disciplines in trying to better capture the phenomenon of indigenous rights advocacy in Africa The book is valuable reading for academics in law and all other social sciences such as anthropology sociology history political science as well as for economists It is also a useful tool for policy makers legal practitioners indigenous rights activists and a wide range of NGOs Dr Felix Mukwiza Ndahinda is Associate Professor at the International Victimology Institute Tilburg INTERVICT Tilburg University The Netherlands

Critical Indigenous Rights Studies Giselle Corradi, Koen de Feyter, Ellen Desmet, Katrijn Vanhees, 2018-09-03 The field of critical indigenous rights studies is a complex one that benefits from an interdisciplinary perspective and a realist as opposed to an idealised approach to indigenous peoples This book draws on sociology of law anthropology political sciences and legal sciences in order to address emerging issues in the study of indigenous rights and identify directions for future research The first part of the volume investigates how changing identities and cultures impact rights protection analysing how policies on development and land and processes such as migration interrelate with the mobilisation of identities and the realisation of rights In the second part new approaches related to indigenous peoples rights are scrutinised as to their potential and relevance They include addressing legal tensions from an indigenous peoples rights perspective creating space for counter narratives on international law and designing new instruments Throughout the text case studies with wide geographical scope are presented ranging from Latin America the book's focus to Egypt Rwanda and Scandinavia

The Marginalised in Genocide Narratives Giorgia Donà, 2019-05-23 This year marks the twenty fifth anniversary of the Rwanda genocide This volume the product of over 20 years of engagement with Rwanda and its diaspora offers a timely reminder of the necessity of rethinking the genocide's social history Examining a range of marginal stories and using Rwanda as a case study The Marginalised in Genocide Narratives analysis of the transformation of genocide into a powerful narrative of a nation establishes an innovative means of understanding the lived spaces of violence and its enduring legacy In a distinctive approach to the social history of genocide this book engages with the marginalised foregrounds genocide s untold stories and uses the conceptual framework of the constellation of genocide narratives to create connections among multiple social actors and identify narrative themes that address the unequal power and interdependence of narratives Adopting a multi level narrative methodology that addresses the value of multiple narrative framings for understanding genocides The Marginalised in Genocide Narratives will appeal to students and researchers interested in sociology conflict and peace studies history African studies and narrative research It may also appeal to policy makers interested in genocide studies and contemporary social history

Indigenous People in Africa
 Laher, Ridwan, Singi Oei, Korir, 2014-05-05 This volume is an attempt to provide this intersectional and reflexive space The thinking behind the book began in Lamu in mid 2010 It was a time when growing community resistance emerged towards the Kenyan government s plan to build a second seaport under a trans frontier infrastructural project known as the Lamu Port South Sudan Ethiopia Transport Corridor LAPSET The editors agreed that a book that draws community activists academics researchers and policy makers into a discussion of the predicament of indigenous rights and development against the backdrop of the Endorois case was timely and needed Assembled here are the original contributions of some of the leading contemporary thinkers in the area of indigenous and human rights in Africa The book is an interdisciplinary effort with the single purpose of thinking through indigenous rights after the Endorois case but it is not a singular laudatory remark on indigenous life in Africa The discussion begins by framing indigenous rights and claims to indigeneity as found in the Endorois decision and its related socio political history Subsequent chapters provide deeper contextual analysis by evaluating the tense relationship between indigenous peoples and the post colonial nation state Overall the book makes a peering and provocative contribution to the relational interests between state policies and the developmental intersections of indigeneity indigenous rights gender advocacy environmental conservation chronic trauma and transitional justice
