An Assessment to Identify Causes of ERP Implementation Failure and to Predict Its Success Mohammad Anisur Rahman, Bijeta Saha, 2016 Evolving in early 1990s Enterprise Resource Planning ERP has become a global standard for the premier business firms for maintain their operations ERP automates and streamlines business processes reduces the complexity of collaboration optimizes the operations that helps to gain superior control over business However ERP implementation success rate is meager in the world due to its complex nature of implementation and cost This paper shows how to access the success of ERP implementation through a case study of a leading pharmaceutical company of Bangladesh This study identified the causes of preliminary success in pre implementation phase and the causes of delay in the implementation phase of ERP

Cost Accounting Margaret H. Christ, D. Kip Holderness (Jr.), Vernon J. Richardson, 2024 The role of management accountants is to analyze data to help organizations make effective business decisions Thanks to an ever increasing amount of data generated by companies the opportunities for management accountants to provide data driven insights have never been greater We believe that students can prepare for an accounting career not only by understanding the methods and procedures of cost accounting but also by learning how to examine and analyze data interpret the results and share insight with others in their organizations

systems are increasingly being adopted by organisations in developing countries As in industrialised countries this adoption seems beset by significant rates of failure leading to a large waste of investment and other resources This paper seeks to understand why ERP failure occurs In doing this it moves beyond the factor lists that have so far dominated analysis Instead it makes use of the design reality gap model This conceptual framework aims to be comprehensive but also contingent sensitive to the specific conditions of any individual client organisation The design reality gap model is applied to a case study of partial ERP failure in a Jordanian manufacturing firm The model analyses the situation both before and during ERP implementation It finds sizeable gaps between the assumptions and requirements built into the ERP system design and the actual realities of the client organisation It is these gaps and the failure to close them during implementation that underlie project failure The paper draws conclusions about good practice in ERP implementation relating to both risk identification and risk mitigation and offers examples of both specific and generic actions that can be undertaken But it also notes challenges existing in some developing country contexts that may continue to constrain the effective use of enterprise resource planning systems
