Representation Of Science Process Skills In The Chemistry:

Multiple Representations in Chemical Education John K. Gilbert, David Treagust, 2009-02-28 Chemistry seeks to provide qualitative and quantitative explanations for the observed behaviour of elements and their compounds. Doing so involves making use of three types of representation: the macro, the empirical properties of substances, the sub-micro, the natures of the entities giving rise to those properties, and the symbolic, the number of entities involved in any changes that take place. Although understanding this triplet relationship is a key aspect of chemical education, there is considerable evidence that students find great difficulty in achieving mastery of the ideas involved. In bringing together the work of leading chemistry educators who are researching the triplet relationship at the secondary and university levels, the book discusses the learning involved, the problems that students encounter, and successful approaches to teaching. Based on the reported research, the editors argue for a coherent model for understanding the triplet relationship in chemical education.

Representations of Nature of Science in School Science Textbooks Christine McDonald, Fouad Abd-El-Khalick, 2017-04-21 Bringing together international research on nature of science (NOS) representations in science textbooks, the unique analyses presented in this volume provides a global perspective on NOS from elementary to college level and discusses the practical implications in various regions across the globe. Contributing authors highlight the similarities and differences in NOS representations and provide recommendations for future science textbooks. This comprehensive analysis is a definitive reference work for the field of science education.

Empowering Science and Mathematics for Global Competitiveness Yuli Rahmawati, Peter Taylor, 2019-06-07 This conference proceedings focuses on enabling science and mathematics practitioners and citizens to respond to the pressing challenges of global competitiveness and sustainable development by transforming research and teaching of science and mathematics. The proceedings consist of 82 papers presented at the Science and Mathematics International Conference (SMIC) 2018, organised by the Faculty of Mathematics and Natural Sciences, Universitas Negeri Jakarta, Indonesia. The proceedings are organised in four parts: Science Education, Mathematics Education, Mathematics and Mathematics Education. The papers contribute to our understanding of important contemporary issues in science, especially nanotechnology, materials, and environmental science. Science education in particular, environmental sustainability, STEM and STEAM education, 21st century skills, technology education, and green chemistry, and mathematics and its application in statistics, computer science, and mathematics education.

Visualization in Science Education John K. Gilbert, 2006-03-30 Visualization in Science Education draws on the insights from cognitive psychology, science, and education by experts from Australia, Israel, Slovenia, UK, and USA. It unites these with the practice of science education, particularly the ever-increasing use of computer-managed modelling packages, especially in chemistry. The first section explores the significance and intellectual standing of visualization. The second section shows how the skills of visualization have been developed practically in science education. This is followed by accounts of how the educational value of visualization has been integrated into university courses in physics genomics and geology The fourth section documents experimental work on the classroom assessment of visualization An endpiece summarises some of the research and development needed if the contribution of this set of universal skills is to be fully exploited at all levels and in all science subjects Current Index to Journals in Education ,1999 Resources in Education ,1996 Assessing Science Laboratory Process Skills at the Elementary and Middle/junior High Levels Ira B.
