Roald Dahl The Witches Chapter Questions:

Toward a 21st-Century School Library Media Program Esther Rosenfeld, David V. Loertscher, 2007-10-15 This collection of enlightening and stimulating articles written by some of the most important figures in school librarianship demonstrates how teacher librarians, classroom teachers, and administrators can work together to create a 21st-century school library media program. With topics that emphasize student success, leadership, partnerships, curriculum design, collaborative planning, and teaching literacy, 21st-century skills, emerging technologies, and so much more, this compendium brings together the best of the best discussions. The practicing teacher librarian, as well as the student seeking to expand his or her knowledge of the field, will find this compilation especially beneficial in providing an overview of the most critical issues related to the role the teacher librarian plays in their school. The articles, previously published in the peer-reviewed Teacher Librarian: The Journal for School Library Professionals, with several included from the magazine VOYA: Voice of Youth Advocates, reveal how school libraries and teacher librarians are moving forward to meet the challenges of this new century.

Humor in Contemporary Junior Literature Julie Cross, 2010-12-14 In this new book, Julie Cross examines the intricacies of textual humor in contemporary junior literature using the tools of literary criticism and humor theory. Cross investigates the dialectical paradoxes of humor and debunks the common belief in oppositional binaries of simple versus complex humor. The varied combinations of so-called high and low forms of humor within junior texts for young readers, who are at such a crucial stage of their reading and social development, provide a valuable commentary upon the culture and values of contemporary western society, making the book of considerable interest to scholars of both children's literature and childhood studies. Cross explores the ways in which the changing content, forms, and functions of the many varied combinations of humor in junior texts, including the Lemony Snickett series, reveal societal attitudes towards young children and childhood. The new compounds of seemingly paradoxical high and low forms of humor in texts for developing readers from the 1960s onwards reflect and contribute to contemporary society's hesitant and uneven acceptance of the emergent paradigm of children's rights, abilities, participation, and empowerment. Cross identifies four types of potentially subversive, transgressive humor which have emerged since the 1960s, which coupled with the three main theories of humor—relief, superiority, and incongruity theories—enables a long overdue charting of developments in humor within junior texts. Cross also argues that the gradual increase in the compounding of the simple and the complex provides opportunities for young readers to play with ambiguous, complicated ideas, helping them embrace the complexities and contradictions of contemporary life.

How to Get Your Child to Love Reading Esmé Raji Codell, 2003-06-06 An exuberant treasure trove for parents. Publishers Weekly: Are children reading enough? Not according to most parents and teachers who know that reading aloud with children fosters a lifelong love of books, ensures better standardized test scores, promotes greater success in school, and helps instill the values we most want to pass on. Esmé Raji Codell, an inspiring children's literature specialist and an energetic teacher, has the solution. She's turned her years of experience with children, parents, librarians, and fellow educators into a great, big, indispensable volume designed to help parents get their kids excited about reading. Here are hundreds of easy and inventive ideas, innovative projects, creative activities, and inspiring suggestions that have been shared, tried, and proven with children from birth through eighth grade. This five-hundred-page volume is brimming with themes for superlative storytimes and book-based birthday parties, ideas for mad scientist experiments and half-pint cooking adventures, stories for reluctant readers, and book groups for boys. Step-by-step instructions for book parades, book-related crafts, storytelling festivals, literature-based radio broadcasts, readers theater, and more. There are book lists galore with subject-driven reading recommendations for science, math, cooking, nature, adventure, music, weather, gardening, sports, mythology, poetry, history, biography, fiction, and fairy tales. Codell's creative thinking and infectious enthusiasm will empower even the busiest parents and children to include literature in their lives.
