Crespy, Les Gray, 2025-09-08 This collection of essays seeks to present articles that examine the early ventures of the 1960s and 1970s in the progressive theatre of identity with a new contemporary view considering the intersection of race gender ethnicity economic class and sexual orientation In 1964 Edward Albee and his producers Richard Barr and Clinton Wilder produced Funnyhouse of a Negro by Adrienne Kennedy and Dutchman by Amiri Baraka then Leroi Jones and by 1968 had produced the seminal gay drama The Boys in the Band by Mart Crowley No other major American playwright of this period including Thornton Wilder Arthur Miller Tennessee Williams or William Inge produced the plays of their junior colleagues with a specific focus on difference and diversity For most scholars these productions and Albee s involvement in them are a somewhat obscure footnote in theatre history But they remain important for their early support of diverse voices Even as Albee s career was skyrocketing he and his producers had begun a producing project that sowed the seeds of diversity equity and inclusion in a decidedly anti racist decolonizing and progressive move that still resonates powerfully today While this book is not a hagiography and does not intend to paint Albee as without his own critical failings in terms of diversity in his own work and that of others this volume of theatre history dramatic literature and performance essays takes a detailed critical approach to Albee s engagement with other initiating plays productions producers theatre companies theatre artists and performances in the United States that pushed the dial toward difference and diversity in the late 1950s through the late 1970s beginning the formations of new theatres of identity across the United States This volume will be of great interest to students and scholars in theatre and performance studies The Musical Leader ,1927 The American Organist ,1988 What You See Is What You Hear Dario Martinelli,2020-01-01 What You See Is What You Hear develops a unique model of analysis that helps students and advanced scholars alike to look at audiovisual texts from a fresh perspective Adopting an engaging writing style the author draws an accessible picture of the field offering several analytical tools historical background and numerous case studies Divided into five main sections the monograph covers problems of definitions history and most of all analysis The first part raises the main problems related to audiovisuality including taxonomical and historical questions The second part provides the bases for the understanding of audiovisual creative communication as a whole introducing a novel theoretical model for its analysis The next three part focus elaborate on the model in all its constituents and with plenty of case studies taken from the field of cinema TV music videos advertising and other forms of audiovisuality Methodologically the book is informed by different paradigms of film and media studies multimodality studies structuralism narratology auteur theory in the broad sense communication studies semiotics and the so called Numanities What You See Is What You Hear enables readers to better understand how to analyze the structure and content of diverse audiovisual texts to discuss their different idioms and to approach them with curiosity and critical spirit
