Matrices Pam Norton, 2007 This book provides mathematics teachers with an elementary introduction to matrix algebra and its uses in formulating and solving practical problems solving systems of linear equations representing combinations of affine including linear transformations of the plane and modelling finite state Markov chains Fundamental Concepts in Electrical and Computer Engineering with Practical Design Problems Reza Adhmi, III Peter M. Meenen, Peter Meenen, Denis Hite, 2007 In many cases the beginning engineering student is thrown into upper level engineering courses without an adequate introduction to the basic material This at best causes undue stress on the student as they feel unprepared when faced with unfamiliar material and at worst results in students dropping out of the program or changing majors when they discover that their chosen field of engineering is not what they thought it was The purpose of this text is to introduce the student to a general cross section of the field of electrical and computer engineering The text is aimed at incoming freshmen and as such assumes that the reader has a limited to nonexistent background in electrical engineering and knowledge of no more than pre calculus in the field of mathematics By exposing students to these fields at an introductory level early in their studies they will have both a better idea of what to expect in later classes and a good foundation of knowledge upon which to build

Studies in English and European Historical Dialectology

Marina Dossena, Roger Lass, 2009 Originally presented at the second in the newly launched series of International Conferences on English Historical Dialectology held at the University of Bergamo in August 2007 the contributions collected in this volume discuss significant aspects of socio-geographical historical variation in language In addition to British English the focus is on Dutch Scots and varieties of English outside England in Wales and in the American colonies of the seventeenth century in a time span ranging from medieval times to the nineteenth century The aim is to highlight the traits that allow scholars to approach the study of English in a broader European perspective identifying the patterns that show convergence or divergence not just in terms of shared linguistic features morphosyntactic lexical or pragmatic but also in terms of methodological approaches In this respect great attention is given to the latest developments in corpus and computational linguistics showing the extent to which such new tools as electronic atlases and tagged corpora may facilitate answers to important research questions At the same time perceptual dialectology is awarded new interest on account of its significant role in normative and argumentative language use
