A First Look at Browser-based Cryptojacking Shayan Eskandari,2019 In this paper we examine the recent trend towards in browser mining of cryptocurrencies in particular the mining of Monero through Coinhive and similar codebases In this model a user visiting a website will download a JavaScript code that executes client side in her browser mines a cryptocurrency typically without her consent or knowledge and pays out the seigniorage to the website Websites may consciously employ this as an alternative or to supplement advertisement revenue may offer premium content in exchange for mining or may be unwittingly serving the code as a result of a breach in which case the seigniorage is collected by the attacker The cryptocurrency Monero is preferred seemingly for its unfriendliness to large scale ASIC mining that would drive browser based efforts out of the market as well as for its purported privacy features In this paper we survey this landscape conduct some measurements to establish its prevalence and profitability outline an ethical framework for considering whether it should be classified as an attack or business opportunity and make suggestions for the detection mitigation and or prevention of browser based mining for non consenting users
